The probation officers and assistant probation officers and deputy probation officers in all counties of the state shall be allowed such necessary incidental expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as required by any laws of the State of California as may be authorized by the judge of the juvenile court; and the same shall be a charge upon the county in which the court appointing them has jurisdiction, and said expenses shall be paid out of the county treasury upon a written order of the judge of the juvenile court of said county directing the county auditor to draw his warrant upon the county treasurer for the specific amount of such expenses. The probation officer and the clerk of the juvenile court shall each keep a classified list of expenses and file a duplicate copy with the county board of supervisors.

SEC. 16. It shall be the duty of the clerk of any court before which an alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person is brought under the provisions of this Act, before hearing, to notify the probation officer of the county thereof.

SEC. 17. The probation officer shall inquire into the antecedents, character, family history, environment and cause of dependency or delinquency of every alleged neglected, dependent, or delinquent person brought before the juvenile court, and shall make his report in writing to the judge thereof: It shall also be the duty of said probation officer, to be present in court in order to represent the interests of the neglected, dependent or delinquent person when the case is heard, and to furnish to the court such information and assistance as it may require and to make such report at such time; and to take charge of said neglected, dependent or delinquent person before and after the hearing as may be ordered. Whenever any person is declared neglected, dependent or delinquent under the provisions of this Act, and is placed in or committed to the care and custody of the probation officer, the case may be transferred to the juvenile court of any county of this state, in which such person resides or to which such person shall remove, and such court shall thereafter have entire jurisdiction over said case. Every probation officer, assistant probation officer and deputy probation officer shall have the powers of a peace officer. At any time the probation officer may bring any neglected, dependent or delinquent person placed in or committed to his care before the court for such further or other action as the court may deem proper. Before any neglected person is replaced, or any dependent or delinquent person is recommitted, the probation officer shall inquire into the reasons assigned for such action and shall be present in court in order to represent the interests of such person. Every probation officer shall have the powers of a school attendance officer, in such portions of the county, in which such probation officer has been appointed, as are not otherwise provided with a school attendance officer, and shall exercise such powers when not inconsistent with his other duties. Every probation officer, within fifteen days after the thirtieth day of June, and within fifteen days after the thirty-first day of December, of each year, shall make in writing and file as a public document a report to the judge of the juvenile court of the county in which such probation officer is appointed, and shall furnish to the county board of supervisors and to the secretary of the state board of charities and corrections of this state a copy thereof. Such report without giving names shall state separately the exact number of neglected, dependent and delinquent persons, segregating male and female, who have been committed by such juvenile court to the care and custody of such probation officer, and the exact number of such persons who are wards of such juvenile court, but of whose cases other disposition has been made, as such number exists deducting all cases dismissed, or where such person has passed the age of twenty-one years upon such thirtieth day of June and such thirty-first day of December, segregating such persons as having been adjudged by such juvenile court to be neglected, dependent or delinquent, as the case may be, in 1903, 1904, 1905 and so on, up to and including the calendar year in which such report is made and filed. Any of the duties of a probation officer may be performed by an assistant or deputy probation officer, and shall be so performed whenever directed by the probation officer; and it shall be the duty of the probation officer to see that his assistant and deputy probation officers perform their duties.

Sec. 18. Whenever a deposition or complaint shall be filed in any court other than a superior court, charging a person with a crime and it shall be suggested to the judge, justice or recorder before whom such person is brought that the person charged is under the age of eighteen years, said judge, justice or recorder shall immediately suspend all proceedings against such person on said charge and examine into the age of such person, and if, from such examination, it shall appear to the satisfaction of said judge, justice or recorder that such person is under the age above specified, he shall forthwith certify to the juvenile court of his county (a) that said person (naming him) is charged with such crime (briefly stating its nature); (b) that such person appears to be under the age of eighteen years, giving date of birth when known, and (c) the suspension of proceedings against such person on such charge by reason of his age, with the date of such suspension; and immediately thereupon all proceedings against the said person on said charge shall be suspended until said juvenile court shall issue its mandate, as hereinafter provided, directing the court before which said charge was pending to proceed with the examination into or trial thereof, and the court so suspending its proceedings shall forthwith cause such person to be taken before the juvenile court of the county for consideration and proceedings under this Act. When such person shall be brought before the judge of the juvenile court said judge shall cause a complaint to be filed as provided in Section 6 of this Act and shall fix a time for considering said matter and shall cause citation to be issued, as provided in Section 9 of this Act. Pending such hearing, said judge may admit such person to bail or otherwise provide for his temporary custody in any manner provided herein for the care of a delinquent person after the finding of his delinquency. The judge of said juvenile court may further investigate the age of such person and may also inquire into the condition and care of such person and make such orders for his disposition under the provisions of this Act as he may deem proper. If said judge shall, after such investigation, decide that such person was at the time said offense was alleged to have been committed of the age of eighteen years or more, such determination shall be conclusive and he shall immediately issue his mandate directing the court before which such charge is pending to proceed therewith, and upon receipt of such mandate said court shall proceed with the examination or trial of said charge as though no suspension thereof had taken place: provided, however, that if the court shall find that the person so charged is under the age of twenty-one years but a fit subject for consideration under the provisions of this Act, he may make such order or orders hereunder as he may deem best in relation to such person: provided further, however, that if such judge shall at any time conclude that such person is not a fit subject for further consideration under this Act, he may remand such person to the court in which said person is charged with said offense for further proceedings on said charge, and upon receipt of the mandate of said juvenile court, or the judge thereof, the court before which said charge is then pending shall be vested with full authority to proceed with the examination or trial thereof. All statutes of limitations relating to the charge so pending against such person shall be suspended as to said person and charge from the issuance by said judge, justice or recorder of his certificate hereinbefore provided for until said juvenile court, or judge thereof, shall issue its mandate remanding such person for further proceedings as aforesaid; and all statutes of limitation relating to any charge, made in any court, against any person under the age of twenty-one years, shall be suspended as to such charge and person whenever, and as long as, such person is before the juvenile court for consideration under the provisions of this Act, or is detained by virtue of any commitment issued hereunder and unrevoked; provided, however, that if said delinquent person shall be discharged by the juvenile court as reformed, such order of discharge shall constitute a bar to any further proceedings in any court against said delinquent person upon said charge.

SEC. 19. Whenever it is claimed that any person under the age of twenty-one years is a neglected, dependent or delinquent person as defined in this Act, a verified petition shall be filed in the juvenile court of the county wherein said alleged neglect, dependency or delinquency occurred, stating such neglect, dependency or delinquency and the facts constituting the same, and that said neglected, dependent or delinquent person is under the age of twenty-one years, and praying that the said court shall adjudge said person to be a neglected, dependent or delinquent person within the meaning of this Act. Notice shall be given of the time and place of hearing as in the case of a person alleged to be a neglected, dependent or delinquent person, and the petition shall be heard at the time and place designated by the juvenile court. If the court shall adjudge said person to be a neglected, dependent or delinquent person, within the meaning of this Act, such order shall be made as is meet in the premises, as in this Act provided.

If upon said hearing said court shall determine that a delinquent person is not a fit and proper subject to be dealt with under the reformatory provisions of this Act, said court may dismiss the petition hereunder and direct that such delinquent person be prosecuted under the general law. No dependent or delinquent person under eighteen years of age shall be prosecuted for crime until the matter has first been submitted to the juvenile court by petition as herein provided, or by certificate of the lower court as provided in section sixteen hereof.

SEC. 20. Whenever any person over the age of eighteen years and under the age of twenty-one years is accused of a felony, and the indictment or information has been filed in the superior court of the county wherein the crime was committed, charging said person with the commission of said felony, the judge may, in his discretion, with the consent of the accused, or upon his request, arrest said proceeding at the time of arraignment or at any time previous to the impanelment of a jury, except where the crime charged is a capital offense, and may proceed to investigate the charge against the defendant, and all the facts and circumstances necessary to determine the proper disposition to be made of said person, and shall determine whether said person shall be dealt with as a delinquent under the provisions of this Act. If the court is satisfied upon such investigation that said person should be declared a delinquent and should be dealt with under this Act, it may make such order as herein provided for the disposition of delinquent persons. If such person thereafter prove not to be amenable to the discipline of the state school to which he may be committed, and the trustees thereof shall determine that said person should be committed to a state penitentiary, such person shall be returned to the custody of the sheriff of the county in which such crime was committed, and thereafter proceedings shall be had upon the indictment or information commencing at the point at which proceedings were arrested; and said person shall be tried for the offense alleged in the information, and if convicted shall be sent to the penitentiary for such time as the court may determine, or otherwise dealt with in accordance with the law for dealing with persons convicted of a felony. If no request is made by the defendant for proceedings under this statute, or if the defendant desires a trial by jury, or if the judge declines to consent to the application of the defendant for proceedings under this statute, said cause shall proceed in the ordinary manner up to the verdict of guilty or not guilty as the case may be. If said person is convicted, the court may thereafter receive such evidence as may be offered, touching the question as to whether or not said person should be dealt with as a delinquent in the manner hereinbefore provided in case of the application and consent of the accused before trial, and may make such order of probation or commitment to said state schools, and may from time to time modify said probation orders, as is herein provided in the case of persons adjudged delinquent. If such person during the period of his commitment to said state institution, proves to be incorrigible or not amenable to the discipline of such institution, and it shall be deemed advisable in the judgment of the trustees of such institution that said person be sent to the penitentiary, then said person shall be returned to the superior court in which the verdict was rendered, for sentence, and thereupon the court shall pronounce judgment.

SEC. 21. In the case of a person alleged to be delinquent within the meaning of this Act, the juvenile court may, pending the hearing, at any time before the person is adjudged delinquent or otherwise disposed of, order that said person be detained in any detention home, provided for that purpose by any county or it may be otherwise temporarily provided for as to the court may seem fit in any manner provided herein for the care of a person after the termination of his delinquency.

SEC. 22. If the court find a person to be dependent or delinquent, then the court may commit such person to the care and custody of the probation officer and may allow the said person to remain in the home of said person, subject to the visitation of a probation officer, and such person shall report to the probation officer as often as may be required, and be subject to be returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear necessary or desirable, or the court may commit the person to the care and custody of the probation officer, to be placed in a suitable family home subject to the supervision of said probation officer and the further order of the court; or it may order the probation officer to board out the person in some suitable family home in case provision is made by voluntary contribution or otherwise for the payment of the board of said person until suitable provision may be made for said person in a home without such payment; or the court may commit said person for such time until such person arrives at the age of twenty-one years as to the court may seem fit, to the care and custody of some association, society or corporation that will receive it, embracing within its objects the care of dependent or delinquent children; or the court may commit said person to a state school as hereinbefore provided, or to such other state institution as may be authorized by law to receive it; provided, further, that should the legislative body of the county provide a suitable place for the detention of dependent or delinquent persons which they are hereby authorized and required to do, such dependent or delinquent persons may be committed thereto after the adjudication of dependency or delinquency for a definite period to be specified in such order, at the end of which time said person shall be brought before the court for further order of court. The court may thereafter set aside, change or modify said order and provide for a further detention in said place.

The court shall retain the jurisdiction of any person who is found to be dependent or delinquent until such person attains his majority, or if a girl, until she attains the age of twenty-one years, unless she is married with the consent of the court, or until said court is satisfied that said person has fully reformed and that further direction and supervision under the provisions of this Act are unnecessary for said person's reformation.

If a boy, under the age of sixteen years, said person may be committed by said court to the Whittier State School or if over the age of sixteen years, the Preston State School of Industry at any time during his minority for the period of his minority. If a girl, she may be committed to the said Whittier State School at any time before she is twenty-one years of age until she is twenty-one years of age. Such person may be committed to any other institution now or hereafter provided by the state for such persons.

Upon the return of said person to the custody of the juvenile court, if said person be accused of felony, it shall be the duty of the judge of said court to sit as a committing magistrate and hold the preliminary examination of such person, and if upon said hearing he shall determine that there is probable cause to believe that the said person has committed the offense charged in the petition theretofore filed in said court, he shall hold such person to answer to the superior court, and thereupon, the usual proceedings shall be had for the trial of said case in the superior court after the filing of the information in pursuance to said order of said judge sitting as a committing magistrate, and said person shall be tried by court and jury in the usual manner for the trial of a felony; provided, however, that no minor under the age of fourteen years at the time of the commission of the offense with which he is charged shall ever be sent to a penitentiary until he has first been committed to the Whittier State School or the Preston State School of Industry and has there proved to be incorrigible or not amenable to the discipline of said school.

No minor who is under the age of eight years and no one who is suffering from any contagious, infectious or other disease which would probably endanger the lives or health of the other inmates of said state schools shall be committed thereto. No person shall be committed to said state schools unless the judge of said court shall be fully satisfied that the mental and physical condition and qualifications of said person are such as to render it probable that such person will be benefited by the reformatory educational discipline of such schools.

SEC. 23. Any order providing for the custody of a neglected, dependent or delinquent person may provide that the expense of maintaining such person shall be paid by the parent or parents or guardian of such person, and in such case shall state the amount to be so paid, and shall determine whether or not the parent or parents or guardian shall exercise any control of said person, and define the extent thereof. Any disobedience of such order or interference with the custody of the person as therein determined shall constitute a contempt of court. It shall be the duty of the probation officer to investigate and report in writing at the first session of the juvenile court held after the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, whether said orders have been obeyed. If it be found, however, that the parent or parents or guardian of a neglected, dependent or delinquent person is unable to pay the whole expense of maintaining such person, the court may, in the order providing for the custody of such person, direct such additional amount as may be necessary to support such person to be paid from the county treasury of the county for the support of such person, the amount so ordered to be paid from the treasury of said county not to exceed, in case of any one person the sum of eleven dollars per month; provided, that no order for the payment of all or part of the expense of support and maintenance of a neglected, dependent or delinquent person from the county treasury shall be effective for more than six months, unless a new order is secured at the expiration of that period. The court may thereafter set aside, change or modify any order herein provided for.

All orders by the juvenile court judge upon the county treasury shall be filed in duplicate with the county board of supervisors.

SEC. 24. Any order made by the court in case of a dependent or delinquent person may at any time be changed, modified or set aside as to the judge may seem meet and proper.

Nothing in this Act contained shall be deemed to interfere with the system of parole and discharge that is now or may hereafter be provided by law, or by rule of the board of trustees of the Whittier State School and the Preston State School of Industry, respectively, for the parole and discharge of dependent and delinquent persons committed to the said schools or to any similar state institutions hereafter created, or with the internal management of the said schools, save that the court committing a person to either of said schools may thereafter change, modify or set aside said order of commitment upon ten days' notice of the hearing of the application therefor being served by United States mail upon the superintendent of the said school to which said person had previously been committed.

SEC. 25. Any alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person may have a private hearing upon the question of his neglect, dependency or delinquency, and upon the request of said person or said person and either of his parents or guardian, such hearing may be had privately in the manner provided by law for private hearings at preliminary examinations. An order of court adjudging a person neglected, dependent or delinquent under the provisions of this Act shall in no case be deemed to be a conviction of crime.

SEC. 26. No court, judge, magistrate or peace officer shall commit a person under sixteen years of age to any jail or prison, before trial and conviction, but if any such person is not released pending such hearing, he may be committed to the care and custody of a sheriff, constable or other peace officer who shall keep such person in a detention home or some other suitable place outside of the enclosure of any jail or prison, as the court may direct. When any person under sixteen years of age shall be sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts or prisoners are sentenced or confined, it shall be unlawful to confine such persons in the same room, yard or enclosure with such adult convicts or prisoners, or to permit such person to come or remain in contact with such adult convicts or prisoners.

SEC. 27. It shall be the duty of the legislative body of every county, or city and county, immediately upon this Act becoming effective, to provide and thereafter maintain, at the expense of such county, or city and county, in a location approved by the judge of the juvenile court, a suitable house or place to be known as the "detention home" of said county, or city and county, for the detention of dependent and delinquent persons. Such detention home must not be in, or connected with, any jail or prison, and shall be conducted in all respects as nearly like a home as possible and shall not be deemed to be or treated as a penal institution. Such legislative body must also provide for a suitable superintendent and matron to have charge of such detention home, and for such other employees as may be needed in the efficient management of such detention home, and provide for the payment, out of the general fund of the county, or city and county, of suitable salaries for such superintendent and matron, and such other employees, such superintendent, matron and other employees to be appointed by said legislative body, upon the nomination of the probation committee and approval of the judge of the juvenile court. The superintendent of the detention home shall keep a classified list of expenses, and file a duplicate copy with the county board of supervisors. The superintendent, matron or other employee of such detention home may, at any time, be removed by the probation committee, in its discretion.

SEC. 28. Any person who shall commit any act or omit the performance of any duty, which act or omission causes or tends to cause, encourage or contribute to the dependency or delinquency of any person under the age of twenty-one years, as defined by any law of this state, or any person who shall, by any act or omission, threats or commands or persuasion, endeavor to induce any such person, under twenty-one years of age, to do or perform any act or follow any course of conduct, or to so live as would cause or manifestly tend to cause any such person to become, or to remain a dependent or delinquent person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and the superior court, sitting as juvenile court, shall have original jurisdiction of all such misdemeanors; but no person shall be tried on the charge of contributing to the dependency and delinquency of any person under the age of twenty-one years, before the same judge who has heard or before whom is pending the case of the person under the age of twenty-one years to whose dependency and delinquency such person is alleged to have contributed.

SEC. 29. This Act shall be liberally construed to the end that its purpose may be carried out, to wit: That the care, custody and discipline of a neglected, dependent or delinquent person as defined in this Act shall approximate as nearly as may be that which should be given by his parents, and in all cases where it can be properly done, the neglected, dependent or delinquent person as defined in this Act shall be placed in an approved family, with people of the same or similar religious belief, and become a member of the family, by legal adoption or otherwise, or if placed in the care of, or committed to, an association, society, corporation, school or institution, then to one of the same or similar religious belief. No neglected, dependent or delinquent person as defined in this Act shall be taken from the custody of his parent or legal guardian, without the consent of such parent or guardian, unless the court shall find such parent or guardian to be incapable of providing, or to have failed or neglected to provide proper maintenance, training and education for said person; and in no case unless the parent or guardian has been duly notified to be present in court before or at the time of placement or commitment or recommitment, or unless said person if dependent or delinquent has been tried on probation in said custody, and has failed to reform. In this Act words used in any gender shall include all other genders, and the word "county" shall include "city and county," the plural shall include the singular and the singular shall include the plural.

SEC. 30. An appeal to the district court of appeal shall lie from any decision and judgment of the juvenile court. The party appealing shall serve on the opposite party and file a notice of such appeal within fifteen days from the day of rendition of the judgment from which the appeal is taken. It is hereby made the duty of the judge of the juvenile court when such an appeal is taken, to find the facts of the case based upon a preponderance of evidence in the form of a special finding and the appellate court shall pass upon the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the judgment rendered. In case the party appealing, questions the sufficiency of the evidence to warrant the findings made by the court, such evidence shall be incorporated in a bill of exceptions prepared by the appellant within fifteen days after notice of appeal shall have been served on the opposite party and filed as aforesaid. The opposite party shall within ten days prepare and serve on appellant proposed amendments to such bill of exceptions, which amendment shall be settled by the judge within five days thereafter. Within ten days after the settlement of said bill of exceptions, the appellant shall engross the same and serve a copy on the opposite party and also on the attorney general, and file the original thereof together with proof of service as herein required endorsed thereon, with the clerk of the juvenile court who shall immediately transmit the same to the court to which the appeal is taken with his certificate that such bill of exceptions is correctly engrossed. An assignment of error that the decision of the juvenile court is contrary to law shall be sufficient to present both a sufficiency of the facts found to sustain the judgment and a sufficiency of the evidence to justify the findings. Appeals from the juvenile court shall have precedence in the court to which such appeal is taken over all other cases. The prosecution and appeal of such cases shall be governed as to costs and as to all other matters not herein provided for by the statutes governing appeals and criminal causes.

SEC. 31. This Act shall supersede all provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to establish a state reform school for juvenile offenders, and to make an appropriation therefor," approved March 11, 1889, and all amendments thereto, and all provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to establish a school of industry and to provide for the maintenance and management of same, and to make an appropriation therefor," approved March 11, 1889, and all amendments thereto relating to the mode of commitments to the institutions therein named; but said Acts shall control as to all matter concerning the management of said institutions, respectively.

SEC. 32. An Act entitled "An Act defining and providing for the control, protection and treatment of dependent and delinquent children: prescribing the powers and duties of courts with respect thereto; providing for the appointment of probation officers, and prescribing their duties and powers; providing for the separation of children from adults when confined in jails or other institutions; providing for the appointment of boards to investigate the qualifications of organizations receiving children under this Act and prescribing the duties of such boards; and providing when proceedings under this Act shall be admissible in evidence," approved February 26, 1903; and the amendments thereto, approved March 22, 1905, and March 27, 1907, are hereby repealed; provided, however, that all orders and judgments made heretofore under said Act shall continue in full force and effect, and that the court shall retain jurisdiction of all children heretofore declared dependent or delinquent, and such children shall be hereafter dealt with in the same manner as if such orders had been made under the provisions of this Act, and all proceedings now pending shall be continued under the provisions of this Act. All children now on probation from justice courts shall remain on probation for the period fixed in the judgment, and if required may be certified to the superior court in the manner in said Act provided. When so certified the said certificate shall be dealt with in the same manner as herein provided for a petition alleging delinquency.

Amendment adopted.

The order making such allowance shall not be effective for a longer period than six months, but upon the expiration of such period, said court may from time to time, extend such allowance for a period of six months, or less, provided the home of such woman has first been visited by a probation officer or other competent person.

SEC. 2. Such allowance shall be made by the juvenile court, only upon the following conditions:

First—The child or children for whose benefit the allowance is made, must be living with the mother of such child or children.

Second—The allowance shall be made only when in the absence of such allowance, the mother would be required to work regularly away from her home and children, and when by means of such allowance she will be able to remain at home with her children, except that she may be absent not more than one day a week for a week.

Third—The mother must, in the judgment of the juvenile court, be a proper person, morally, physically and mentally, for the bringing up of her children.

Fourth—Such allowance shall in the judgment of the court be necessary to save the child or children from neglect and to avoid the breaking up of the home of such woman.

Fifth—It must appear to be for the benefit of the child to remain with such mother.

Sixth—a careful preliminary examination of the home of such mother must first have been made by the probation officer, an associated charities organization, humane society, or such other competent person or agency as the court may direct, and a written report of such examination filed.

SEC. 3. Whenever any child shall reach the age of fourteen years, any allowance made to the mother of such child for the benefit of such child shall cease. The juvenile court may, in its discretion, at any time before such child reaches the age of fourteen years, discontinue or modify the allowance to any mother and for any child.

Resolution read, and on motion unanimously adopted.

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The following statement was filed by the Speaker, and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Assembly:

There has been handed me this day a memorial or petition which has been duly signed and verified by the petitioner, James E. Whinnery, of Alameda County, in which he has charged A. J. Buckles, a judge of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Solano, with misdemeanor in office, and has asked for an investigation or an impeachment of this judge, for reasons stated in his petition.

I therefore present these matters to you for your consideration.

MEMORIAL.

To the Honorable the Assembly of the State of California:

This affiant, your petitioner, complains to your honorable body that Hon. A. J. Buckles, a judge of the Superior Court of the State of California, has been guilty of misdemeanor in office, as follows:

I. That on the 23d day of May, 1911, said Buckles wilfully aided and abetted the commission of a criminal fraud in the case of Whinnery vs. Whinnery, on trial before said Buckles in the Superior Court of Alameda County; that said Buckles was then and there guilty of browbeating and persecuting this affiant, defendant in said case, without cause, provocation or excuse; that said Buckles then and there wilfully aided and abetted counsel in said case in suppressing the evidence for said defendant, and in making up a false record to preclude a proper trial of said case in the appellate courts, and knowingly signed a fraudulent decree in said action.

II. Your petitioner avers that since 1894 he has been afflicted with partial deafness; that during said trial he was unable to hear the testimony of the witnesses against him; that three times during said trial he quietly and respectfully protested to that effect; that it was the duty of the court to see that your petitioner's rights in the premises were protected; that the conduct of counsel in said case showed that counsel had plotted to prevent a proper trial of said case; that instead of protecting your petitioner, said Buckles without provocation insulted him and joined with counsel in said plot.

III. That nearly a year prior to said trial your petitioner had employed counsel to make a bona fide defense in said action; that said counsel accepted a retainer in said case; that only two days before said trial said counsel attempted to retire from said case and urged your petitioner to employ another lawyer recommended by said counsel but totally unknown to your petitioner; that your petitioner refused to release said counsel; that said counsel employed said other lawyer to try the case as his substitute without informing said substitute of the facts of the case; that said original counsel remained there present during said trial, but did not inform his substitute of said facts; that both of said lawyers were engaged in a conspiracy; that the conduct of said trial showed that a fraud was being committed, and that said Buckles failed not only to protect your petitioner by exposing said fraud, but aided and abetted it. That both plaintiff and defendant testified that defendant, your petitioner, was guardian in charge of the property involved in said action; that as such guardian defendant knew all the facts in regard to said property and that no one else did; that defendant's counsel failed to ask defendant in regard to said property; that it was said Buckles' duty to call counsel's attention to said omission or to bring out the facts himself; that defendant's counsel throughout the trial acted in the interest of plaintiff; that this was patent to said Buckles and such others as could hear; that instead, said Buckles aided and abetted the fraudulent action of defendant's counsel.

That said Buckles knowingly signed a fraudulent decree in said action, awarding to plaintiff about three fourths of the property in dispute, as her "sole, separate and exclusive property"; that not one word of testimony had been introduced to support said decision, or to that effect; that said action was wilful and fraudulent; that said decree purported to award to defendant a certain policy of insurance on the life of defendant in the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company; that no such policy ever existed; that defendant was not asked concerning same, and that such action was wilful neglect of duty. That certain county warrants scheduled by defendant and denied by plaintiff were omitted from said decree; that no testimony was taken regarding the same, and that said action was wilful neglect. That the decree in said action was fraudulently prepared, and approved by said Buckles, prior to the introduction of any testimony for defendant. That said Buckles permitted defendant's counsel, without defendant's knowledge, to waive all of defendant's rights, with intent to prevent an appeal, and that said action was wilful neglect. That the record in said action bristles with errors; leading questions, assumptions of fact not sworn to, improper testimony, and improper and insulting remarks by said Buckles, all admitted by counsel without a single exception; that only one exception was noted during the entire trial; that said Buckles' failure to protect defendant was wilful neglect, and that said acts show the patent fraud in said proceedings.

That said Buckles permitted the official stenographer to insert in his transcript questions and answers dictated by counsel which were not asked or answered; and that answers given as having been made by defendant, concerning material matters, were not made by him, and that he never heard of same until he received a copy of the "transcript," for which he paid fifty dollars; that this was done to surreptitiously have important matters held to be res judicata.

Plaintiff was accompanied by her brother, two daughters and a woman friend. Buckles, the trial judge, coaxed testimony from her. Defendant, then suspecting no fraud, and then relying on the law, and ethics governing attorneys, was alone, and was browbeaten and insulted by the court. Defendant's counsel throughout acted in the interest of plaintiff and the case was tried upside down, with the connivance of said Buckles. Defendant was the one person who knew all about the property, and he was the one person his own counsel did not ask about it, they instead trying to get the facts from plaintiff who knew little. The court should either have insisted on these facts being gotten from defendant, your petitioner, or asked for them himself.

Your petitioner herewith forwards a copy of an affidavit filed in the Supreme Court, but which was not admissible in said court at the time your petitioner filed the same. A copy of the reporter's transcript will be forwarded if and when desired.

This complaint has not been earlier forwarded, owing to the said case being in the appellate courts.

Wherefore, your petitioner requests an investigation by your honorable body, and such action as is provided by the Constitution and laws of California.

JAMES E. WHINNERY.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
COUNTY OF ALAMEDA. } ss.

James E. Whinnery, being duly sworn, on oath, says that the statements of fact in the above complaint are true.

JAMES E. WHINNERY.

[Duly verified.]

RESOLUTION.

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Sutherland:

WHEREAS, James E. Whinnery, of the county of Alameda, State of California, has presented to this Assembly his memorial charging that A. J. Buckles, Judge of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Solano, has been guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and requests that this body investigate said charges; and

WHEREAS, If said charges be found to be true, said judge should be dealt with according to law, and if found to be untrue, the judicial character of said judge should be vindicated and said court be relieved from all suspicion; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Judiciary Committee of this Assembly be and it is hereby authorized to investigate said charges, and to report to this Assembly whether the said judge has so acted in his judicial capacity, or otherwise, as to require the exercise of the constitutional power of this Assembly to present impeachment charges against said judge; and

Resolved, further, That for the purpose of such investigation, the said committee, and such sub-committee as the said committee may appoint, are hereby authorized and empowered to send for persons and papers, to administer oaths, to take testimony, and to employ such clerical help and other assistance as may be necessary, and the said committee, or sub-committee, while so employed, shall have full power to enforce the attendance of witnesses, with a sergeant-at-arms, who shall serve the process of said committee, or sub-committee, and shall execute its orders and shall attend sittings thereof as ordered and directed by said committee; and

Resolved, further, That the expenses of such investigation shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Assembly.

Strike out all after the enacting clause, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. There is hereby established a commission, to be known as the industrial welfare commission, hereinafter called the commission. Said commission shall be composed of five persons, at least one of whom shall be a woman, and all of whom shall be appointed by the Governor as follows: two for the term of one year, one for the term of two years, one for the term of three years, and one for the term of four years; provided, however, that at the expiration of their respective terms, their successors shall be appointed to serve a full term of four years. Any vacancies shall be similarly filled for the unexpired portion of the term in which the vacancy shall occur. Three members of the commission shall constitute a quorum. A vacancy on the commission shall not impair the right of the remaining members to perform all the duties and exercise all the powers and authority of the commission.

SEC. 2. The members of said commission shall draw no salaries but all of said members shall be allowed ten dollars per diem while engaged in the performance of their official duties. The commission may employ a secretary, and such expert, clerical and other assistants as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act, and shall fix the compensation of such employees, and may, also, to carry out such purposes, incur reasonable and necessary office and other expenses, including the necessary traveling expenses of the members of the commission, of its secretary, of its experts, and of its clerks and other assistants and employees. All employees of the commission shall hold office at the pleasure of the commission.

SEC. 3 (a). It shall be the duty of the commission to ascertain the wages paid, the hours and conditions of labor and employment in the various occupations, trades, and industries in which women and minors are employed in the State of California, and to make investigations into the comfort, health, safety and welfare of such women and minors.

(b) It shall be the duty of every person, firm or corporation employing labor in this state:

1. To furnish to the commission, at its request, any and all reports or information which the commission may require to carry out the purposes of this Act, such reports and information to be verified by the oath of the person, or a member of the firm, or the president, secretary, or manager of the corporation furnishing the same, if and when so requested by the commission or any member thereof.

2. To allow any member of the commission, or its secretary, or any of its duly authorized experts or employees, free access to the place of business or employment of such person, firm, or corporation, for the purpose of making any investigation authorized by this Act, or to make inspection of, or excerpts from, all books, reports, contracts, pay rolls, documents, or papers, of such person, firm or corporation relating to the employment of labor and payment therefor by such person, firm or corporation.

3. To keep a register of the names, ages and residence addresses of all women and minors employed.

(c) For the purposes of this Act, a minor is defined to be a person of either sex under the age of eighteen years.

SEC. 4. The commission may specify times to hold public hearings, at which times, employers, employees, or other interested persons, may appear and give testimony as to the matter under consideration. The commission or any member thereof shall have power to subpoena witnesses and to administer oaths. All witnesses subpoenaed by the commission shall be paid the fees and mileage fixed by law in civil cases.

In case of failure on the part of any person to comply with any order of the commission or any member thereof, or any subpoena, or upon the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may lawfully be interrogated before any wage board or the commission, it shall be the duty of the superior court or the judge thereof, on the application of a member of the commission, to compel obedience in the same manner, by contempt proceedings, or otherwise, that such obedience would be compelled in a proceeding pending before said court. The commission shall have power to make and enforce reasonable and proper rules of practice and procedure and shall not be bound by the technical rules of evidence.

SEC. 5. If, after investigation, the commission is of the opinion that, in any occupation, trade, or industry, the wages paid to women and minors are inadequate to supply the cost of proper living, or the hours or conditions of labor are prejudicial to the health, morals or welfare of the workers, the commission may call a conference hereinafter called "wage board," composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees in the occupation, trade, or industry in question, and a representative of the commission to be designated by it, who shall act as the chairman of the wage board. The members of such wage board shall be allowed five dollars per diem and necessary traveling expenses while engaged in such conferences. The commission shall make rules and regulations governing the number and selection of the members and the mode of procedure of such wage board, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions arising as to the validity of the procedure and of the recommendations of such wage board. The proceedings and deliberations of such wage board shall be made a matter of record for the use of the commission, and shall be admissible as evidence in any proceedings before the commission. On request of the commission, it shall be the duty of such wage board to report to the commission its findings, including therein:

1. An estimate of the minimum wage adequate to supply to women and minors engaged in the occupation, trade or industry in question, the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such women and minors.

2. The number of hours of work per day in the occupation, trade or industry in question, consistent with the health and welfare of such women and minors.

3. The standard conditions of labor in the occupation, trade or industry in question, demanded by the health and welfare of such women and minors.

SEC. 6. (a) The commission shall have further power after a public hearing had upon its own motion or upon petition, to fix:

1. A minimum wage to be paid to women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this State, which shall not be less than a wage adequate to supply to such women and minors the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such women and minors.

2. The maximum hours of work consistent with the health and welfare of women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this state; provided, that the hours so fixed shall not be more than the maximum now or hereafter fixed by law.

3. The standard conditions of labor demanded by the health and welfare of the women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this state.

(b) Upon the fixing of a time and place for the holding of a hearing for the purpose of considering and acting upon any matters referred to in sub-section (a) hereof, the commission shall give public notice by advertisement in at least one newspaper published in each of the cities of Los Angeles and Sacramento and in the city and county of San Francisco, and by mailing a copy of said notice to the county recorder of each county in the state, of such hearing and purpose thereof, which notice shall state the time and place fixed for such hearing, which shall be not earlier than fourteen days from the date of publication and mailing of such notices.

(c) After such public hearing, the commission may, in its discretion, make a mandatory order to be effective in sixty days from the making of such order, specifying the minimum wage for women or minors in the occupation in question, the maximum hours (provided that the hours specified shall not be more than the maximum for women or minors in California), and the standard conditions of labor for said women or minors; provided, however, that no such order shall become effective until after April 1, 1914. Such order shall be published in at least one newspaper in each of the cities of Los Angeles and Sacramento and in the city and county of San Francisco, and a copy thereof be mailed to the county recorder of each county in the state, and such copy shall be recorded without charge, and to the labor commissioner, who shall send by mail, so far as practicable, to each employer in the occupation in question, a copy of the order, and each employer shall be required to post a copy of such order in the building in which women or minors affected by the order are employed. Failure to mail notice to the employer shall not relieve the employer from the duty to comply with such order. Finding by the commission that there has been such publication and mailing to county recorders shall be conclusive as to service.

SEC. 7. RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS, A joint resolution has been introduced in the State Legislature of the State of California, being Resolution No. 29, introduced by Senator Shanahan, indorsing House Resolution No. 28825, introduced in Congress by Hon. John E. Raker, having for its purpose the restoration to the public domain all of the lands heretofore in 1894 reserved; and

WHEREAS, The Iron Canyon project, for which we have worked for many years and have succeeded in interesting ex-Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield, who, after personally inspecting the site, considered it of national importance and recommended it as the next project to be carried out by the government in its reclamation and irrigation of lands; and

WHEREAS, The restoration of said lands to the public domain would greatly interfere with and hamper the carrying out of said Iron Canyon reclamation and irrigating project; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we earnestly protest against the passage of said Joint Resolution No. 29 in the State Legislature and against the said House Resolution No. 28825.

Resolved, further, That copies of this resolution be sent to our representatives in our State Senate and Assembly.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 19, 1913.

To the Legislature of the State of California:

Upon the question of legislation concerning the ownership of land by aliens, I am this morning in receipt of a telegram from Mr. Bryan, Secretary of State, expressing the views of the President.

The telegram is as follows:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18, 1913.

"Governor Hiram Johnson, Sacramento, Cal.:

"The President desires me to say that, while he fully recognizes the right of the people of California to legislate according to their judgment on the subject of land tenure, he feels it his duty to urge a recognition of the international character of such legislation. Being anxious to preserve and strengthen the long standing friendly relations existing between this country and the nations of the Orient, he very respectfully but most earnestly advises against the use of the words 'ineligible to citizenship.' He asks that you bring this view to the attention of the Legislature. He believes the Senate bill as telegraphed to the Department of State is greatly to be preferred. That bill limited ownership to citizens and to be (those) who had declared their intention to become citizens.

"W. J. BRYAN."

Respectfully,

HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Governor.

On page 1, strike out all after the word "equalized" and substitute therefor the following:

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States has been convened in extraordinary session to revise the tariff downward, in pursuance of the overwhelming mandate of the people; and

WHEREAS, The President of the United States, in his message read to Congress, said: "We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage, and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical and enterprising, masters of competitive supremacy, better workers and merchants than any in the world. Aside from the duties laid upon articles which we do not, and probably cannot, produce, therefore, and the duties laid upon luxuries and merely for the sake of the revenues they yield, the object of the tariff duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contest with the wits of the rest of the world; and

WHEREAS, It is practically certain that a tariff law will be enacted along the line of the principles above enunciated by the President of the United States; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of the State of California do hereby respectfully request that the Congress of the United States, in considering reduction in the present tariff rate on citrus fruits, do take into careful consideration all of the facts in relation to this great California industry, which facts, it is understood, are now in the possession of the Congress. The Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of the State of California desire, in this connection, to draw the special attention of members of Congress to:

(1) The long and expensive railroad haul over the mountains and deserts by which the California citrus fruit grower is able to reach the market.

(2) The difference in the cost of labor in California and in the competing foreign countries.

(3) The uncertain nature of the business, rendered so by the extreme perishability of the fruit, weather conditions, costly refrigeration, pests, etc.

Further, that none of the industries of California, we believe, now ask, expect or should receive any "semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage," but on the contrary, that only equality of opportunity be afforded by the fixing of tariff rates that will be just in relation to all the surrounding facts.

Resolved, further, That a copy of this resolution be telegraphed to the President and to each of our Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States.

Before six o'clock p.m. of each day each member desiring to place a bill on the special urgency file for the succeeding day shall give to the file clerk the number of the bill he desires placed on the special urgency file, together with the number of the same on the file for that day.

The bills shall then be arranged on the special urgency file in the alphabetical order in which the names of the parties placing them on the file appear.

Such file shall be considered at least once each day, commencing on Monday, April 21, 1913. The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. There is hereby created the office of state inspector of weighing and measuring instruments and the person holding such office is hereinafter designated "inspector." The inspector shall be appointed by the governor and the first appointment shall be made within thirty days after this Act becomes effective. The inspector shall always be removable at the pleasure of the governor, and shall be the same person as holds the office of labor commissioner. He shall draw no salary as inspector.

SEC. 2. Before entering upon his duties, the inspector shall execute a bond to the state in the sum of five thousand (5,000) dollars conditional upon the faithful performance of his duties.

SEC. 3. The inspector may appoint such deputies as he may deem advisable, not to exceed six in number, who shall be competent to perform the duties of inspectors of weighing and measuring instruments. Such deputies shall give bond in the sum of twenty-five hundred (2,500) dollars and shall have a salary of fifteen hundred (1,500) dollars per annum, to be paid in the same manner and at the same time as the salaries of state officers. They shall at all times be subject to removal at the pleasure of the inspector or the governor.

SEC. 4. The inspector and his deputies shall be allowed their actual traveling expenses, to be approved by the state board of control in the same manner as other claims against the state. The inspector shall also be allowed necessary office expenses to be approved by the state board of control in the same manner as other claims against the state.

Upon demand the secretary of state shall deliver to the inspector all standards now in the possession or under the control of the secretary of state. The inspector shall thereupon submit such standards received from the secretary of state to the national bureau of standards for certification, and the inspector shall replace such standards as are defective or incorrect and purchase such additional standards as shall be necessary to make up a suitably complete set of standard weights and measures for the purposes of this Act. Additional copies shall be purchased for the use of said deputies and boards of supervisors, as herein-after provided, which copies may be made of cheaper material than the standards of the state, kept in the inspector's office.

SEC. 7. The inspector shall place a copy of the state standards of weights and measures in the custody of the board of supervisors of every county, and city and county in the state, but said copies shall remain the property of the state, and the inspector or one of his deputies shall compare the same with the state standards at least once in five years.

It shall be the duty of boards of supervisors to receive the copies referred to in the preceding section, and keep them in a safe and suitable place from which they shall not be removed except for repairs, certification, or use, and to perform such other duties as are required of them to be performed by this Act. When requested in writing by any person, firm or corporation to make examinations of any weighing or measuring instrument said board of supervisors shall send some competent person to make such examination and the person making the request shall pay all expenses including a per diem of five dollars and actual traveling expenses of the person making the examination. SEC. 10. Any person may have any weighing or measuring instrument tested by making a request in writing to the board of supervisors of the county, or city and county, in which he resides or by applying to the inspector and paying the expenses of making such test.

SEC. 14. The inspector and his deputies in the performance of their official duties, shall have the same powers as are possessed by peace officers of this state, and are authorized and empowered to arrest without formal warrant for any violation of this Act.

If the inspector or any of his deputies, in the performance of their duties under the provisions of this Act, shall find any weighing or measuring instrument of any kind in use for dealing with any merchandise, manufactured articles or commodities that does not correspond with the state standards of weights and measures, he may immediately take possession of said instrument and shall notify the owner or person in charge of said weighing or measuring instrument that it does not correspond with the state standards, and the owner of said weighing or measuring instrument may within fifteen days thereafter bring an action against the inspector in the superior court of the county wherein such possession was so taken, for the purpose of recovering said instrument and of proving that said instrument at the time such possession was so taken corresponded with the state standards or that neither said owner nor person in charge knew or could with reasonable care have known that said instrument did not correspond with said standards. If such action is not brought within fifteen days, or in the event such action is brought and is decided in favor of the inspector, the inspector or his deputy shall file with the recorder of the county, or city and county, where the possession of said instrument was so taken, a notice stating that said instrument was examined and found different from the state standards of weights and measures and in what respects and giving the name and location of the place where used and the name, if known, of the owner. The recorder of such county, or city and county, shall file such notice and index same in a book kept by him for such purpose, entitled "Records of False Weights and Measures." All such notices shall remain on file and indexed for a period of not less than ten nor more than twelve months, at the expiration of which time the recorder shall remove and destroy said notice and efface said index. For such filing and destruction of notices, no fee shall be charged. If such suit is brought, the district attorney of said county shall defend the same and take and keep possession of said instrument for use as evidence in such suit. If judgment is rendered in favor of the inspector, or in event owner does not bring suit within said fifteen days, said measuring and weighing instrument shall be forfeited to the State of California.

SEC. 16. Any person who shall hinder or obstruct in any way the inspector or any of his deputies in the performance of their official duties, or shall refuse or wilfully neglect to exhibit any weighing or measuring instrument of any kind, or appliance or accessory connected therewith which is in his possession or under his control, to the inspector or such deputy, for the purpose of allowing the same to be inspected as in this Act provided, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 17. Any inspector making any false report or failing to perform his duties as herein set forth is guilty of a misdemeanor.

"THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22, 1913.

"Hon. HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Governor, Sacramento, California:

"I speak upon the assumption, which I am sure is well founded, that the people of California do not desire their representatives—and that their representatives do not wish or intend—in any circumstances to embarrass the Government of the United States in its dealings with a nation with whom it has most earnestly and cordially sought to maintain relations of genuine friendship and good will, and that least of all do they desire to do anything that might impair treaty obligations or cast a doubt upon the honor and good faith of the nation and its government.

"I, therefore, appeal with the utmost confidence to the people, the Governor and the Legislature of California to act in the matter now under consideration in a manner that cannot from any point of view be fairly challenged or called in question. If they deem it necessary to exclude all aliens who have not declared their intention to become citizens from the privileges of land ownership, they can do so along lines already followed in the laws of many of the other states and of many foreign countries, including Japan herself. Invidious discrimination will inevitably draw in question the treaty obligations of the Government of the United States. I register my very earnest and respectful protest against discrimination in this case, not only because I deem it my duty to do so as the chief executive of the nation, but also, and the more readily, because I believe that the people and the legislative authorities of California will generously respond the moment the matter is frankly presented to them as a question of national policy and of national honor. If they have ignored this point of view, it is, I am sure, because they did not realize what and how much was involved.

"WOODROW WILSON."

Respectfully submitted.

HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Governor.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22, 1913.

The Speaker of the House, Sacramento, Cal.:

I speak upon the assumption, which I am sure is well founded, that the people of California do not desire their representatives—and that their representatives do not wish or intend—in any circumstances to embarrass the Government of the United States in its dealings with a nation with whom it has most earnestly and cordially sought to maintain relations of genuine friendship and good will, and that least of all do they desire to do anything that might impair treaty obligations or cast a doubt upon the honor and good faith of the nation and its government.

I, therefore, appeal with the utmost confidence to the people, the Governor, and the Legislature of California to act in the matter now under consideration in a manner that can not from any point of view be fairly challenged or called in question. If they deem it necessary to exclude all aliens who have not declared their intention to become citizens from the privileges of land ownership, they can do so along lines already followed in the laws of many of the other states and of many foreign countries, including Japan herself. Invidious discrimination will inevitably draw in question the treaty obligations of the Government of the United States. I register my very earnest and respectful protest against discrimination in this case, not only because I deem it my duty to do so as the chief executive of the nation, but also, and the more readily, because I believe that the people and the legislative authorities of California will generously respond the moment the matter is frankly presented to them as a question of national policy and of national honor. Add four new sections, to be numbered and read as follows:

SEC. 4. Whenever in the judgment of the state board of health the reports upon any occupational disease require special investigation of all the conditions and circumstances of any occupation or occupations in relation to the disease, a preliminary investigation shall be made and a report prepared. If the state board of health shall decide that this report warrants a thorough investigation, it shall confer with the commissioner of labor and the governor, and with their approval shall place the said occupation or occupations upon a provisional list of dangerous trades, and shall proceed with a thorough investigation and preparation of a final report to the legislature upon the protection of employees or other persons affected by these occupations. For the purpose of this Act the state board of health shall have the power to hold hearings, take testimony, administer oaths and subpoena witnesses.

SEC. 5. Within ninety days after any occupation or occupations have been placed upon the provisional list of dangerous trades, any person, firm, or corporation desiring to engage in, or to continue to engage in, operate or conduct any business requiring the employment of men, women, or children in such occupation or occupations shall file with the state board of health a petition for permission so to do, together with a complete and detailed plan, description and history of the existing or proposed works, system or plant, showing geographical location, with relation of climatological and sanitary factors to site, and all available data upon the influence of the occupation or occupations upon the health of the employees and other persons. Thereupon, a thorough investigation of the existing or proposed works, system or plant, and all circumstances and conditions deemed to be material, shall be made under the direction of the state board of health. As a part of such investigation, and after ten days' notice by mail to the petitioner, a hearing or hearings may be had before said board or an examiner appointed by it for the purpose. At such hearing or hearings witnesses who testify shall be sworn by the person conducting the hearing, and evidence oral and documentary, may be received, a record of which shall be made and filed with said board. All of the expense of such investigation, including hearings, excepting the compensation of state officers participating therein, shall be borne and paid as they accrue by the petitioner.

Upon the completion of such investigation said board, if it shall determine as a fact that any or all the employees or other persons are or may be, under all the circumstances and conditions, subject to influences which will endanger their lives, or be prejudicial to their health, shall, upon the approval of the commissioner of labor and the governor (a) deny the prayer of such petition, if it be for a business not yet established, until the final report provided in section four of this Act has been duly considered by the legislature; or, (b) if such petition be for continuing a business already established, said board shall grant to petitioner a temporary and revocable permit authorizing the continuance of the business under such restrictions as in said permit may be specified, as urgently necessary for the protection of the employees or other persons from the occupational disease under investigation, until the final report provided in section four of this Act has been duly considered by the legislature.

SEC. 6. Any person violating any of the provisions of this Act, whether acting for himself or as the agent or servant of another person, or of a firm, company or corporation, or as an officer, agent, employee, or representative of any municipal corporation, or of the state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for a term of not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each day that anything in violation of any provision of this Act shall continue; each day that anything forbidden by the provisions hereof to be erected, constructed, maintained, operated or permitted, shall continue to exist, or be maintained, operated or permitted; each day that anything required to be constructed, erected, maintained, operated, or instituted shall be delayed; and each day that any person shall neglect to perform any act or to take any precautions required by rules and regulations that may be specified under the provisions of this Act, shall constitute a separate offense.

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE FROM THE ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE ON PRISONS AND REFORMATORIES.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, April —, 1913.

MR. SPEAKER: Your select committee, appointed from the Assembly Committee on Prisons and Reformatories, begs leave to report as follows:

Your committee visited San Quentin prison March 25, 1913, and remained at that institution for a period of eight days. Your committee has thoroughly and minutely inspected every part, portion and apartment of said institution, and has made its best efforts in the investigation of the prison, as directed and empowered by the following resolution adopted by the Assembly, March —, 1913.

Resolution by Mr. Brown:

Resolved, That the Committee on State Prisons and Reformatories is hereby instructed and empowered to inquire whether prisoners confined in San Quentin and Folsom state prisons are now, or have been within the last two years, subjected to cruel and unusual punishments, and especially to what extent the strait-jacket is being used at said prisons upon prisoners confined in said prisons or in any of the reformatory institutions of this State for the purpose of discipline or punishment; and the said committee is hereby directed to report to the Assembly in writing the result of their investigations as soon as practicable; that said committee have full power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, take testimony, send for persons, books, and papers, and that a stenographer be assigned to said committee, and that said committee have leave to visit San Quentin and Folsom prisons, and to hold meetings at said prisons.

Resolution amended to read as follows: Resolved, That the Committee on Prisons and Reformatory Institutions is hereby instructed and empowered to inquire whether prisoners in San Quentin and Folsom state prisons are now, or have been within the last two years, subjected to cruel and unusual punishments, and especially to what extent the strait-jacket is being used at said prisons upon prisoners confined in said prisons or in any of the reformatory institutions of this State for the purpose of discipline or punishment; and said committee is hereby directed to report in writing to the Assembly the result of their investigation as soon as practicable. That said committee have full power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, take testimony, send for persons, books, papers, and that a stenographer and a sergeant-at-arms be assigned to said committee, and that said committee have leave to visit San Quentin and Folsom prisons, and to hold meetings at said prisons.

Your committee, upon arriving at San Quentin on the morning of March 26th, proceeded first collectively to make a complete personal examination and inspection of every part, portion, and apartment of this institution in company with Warden Hoyle, and later your committee individually and in the absence of the warden or any other prison officer personally reinspected the various portions of the prison, and your committee individually mingled and conversed freely with the inmates of said prison, during the time that the inmates were at work and during the serving and eating of the noon meal. Members of the committee partook of the food and observed closely the manner of service, the quality and quantity of the food served, and the mode and the manner of the service—it later being shown by the testimony, (see Trans. pp. 169, March 30) that this noon meal so closely observed by your committee was, in so far as service, mode and manner of serving, and as to quality and quantity of food and sanitary conditions, such a meal as is usually and generally served in that institution. On this tour of inspection special and particular attention was given to the following places:

- (a) The dungeon, or "hole."
- (b) The incorrigible ward, referred to in testimony as the sash and blind, or punishment chamber.
- (c) The strait-jacket.
- (d) The kitchen, dining-room and storerooms.
- (e) The meat department and the bakery.
- (f) The toilets and ventilation system.
- (g) The main hospital.
- (h) The tuberculosis hospital.
- (i) Mode, manner and place of punishment.

Your committee found the inmates of San Quentin prison at first very reticent, retiring and suspicious of the committee and their good intentions, and were loath to converse with or offer themselves freely as witnesses to the committee—saying in many instances in effect: "It would be of no avail to them to tell the committee the truth of any matters relating to the prison, as it would only result (as many of the prisoners expressed) in a beautiful and artistic job of calumniating," and that they would be left worse off than before because of the possible hatred and vengeance which might be inflicted upon them by the prison officials. After many hours of patience, kindness and much assurance of sympathy and declaration on our part, of an earnest desire to get at the whole truth and report it regardless of the consequences, and a promise on the part of the committee to protect and defend the individual prisoners, and later upon the voluntary assurance of President Duffy of the Prison Board and Warden Hoyle that "any prisoner who was fearful that any testimony that he might give would militate against him or bring about unfavorable conditions or unjust punishment of himself at the hands of any San Quentin official, that such prisoner upon his own request might be transferred to the state prison at Folsom, and further that any paroled prisoner testifying before the committee, and who afterwards for any reason broke his parole, such prisoner should not be tried or have his case determined by the present prison board, but that such a prisoner's case should be determined by the judge in the county in which the offense was committed"—upon this and various other assurances on the part of the committee, the prisoners readily yielded and came forward, and thereafter appeared willing, and in fact anxious, to converse freely with the members of the committee.

After a personal inspection of the institution and personal interviews with the prisoners your committee proceeded to the taking of testimony, confining the inquiry as closely as possible within the range and scope of the resolution authorizing the investigation. More than sixty witnesses were examined under oath and about four hundred other prisoners were conversed with privately by various members of the committee.

The taking of testimony commenced on the afternoon of March 26, 1913, at San Quentin, and was continued daily with evening sessions until the afternoon of April 2d. Your committee then returned to Sacramento, and again convened April 5th, 16th and 17th in the State Capitol building, when further testimony was taken.

Your committee entered into an agreement with prisoners confined in the penitentiary and those on parole that no publicity would be given to the names of such witnesses as were called to give testimony before the committee, and such names have not, up to this time, been disclosed, and your committee believes that the names of these persons should be withheld from the general public.

In the manner of securing witnesses from among the prisoners the following simple method was adopted:

Members of the committee proceeded unattended, individually, or by twos, into and about the various apartments and places of the prison, and in all manner of kindness, invited the inmates to speak of any complaints they desired to make or of any cruelties or inhuman treatment of the prisoners by guards or officials, or of the serving of improper foods of any kind to them—the members of the committee taking the names and numbers of such persons, the most important of whom were later summoned by the Sergeant-at-Arms to testify before the committee. No prison official was allowed to be present at the giving of any testimony, except upon the request of the prisoner testifying. Otherwise the hearing and inquiry was open to the public.

Many hundreds of prisoners were seen and talked with by the individual members of your committee, many of whom desired to appear and testify; but your committee found it impossible to hear all of these applicants. But your committee made its best endeavor to secure several witnesses upon every complaint or phase of the inquiry, and in this connection your committee desire to offer an apology at this point as to the extent and great length of the transcript of the inquiry; but try as the committee would, and did, to confine the inquiry within the limits and scope of the resolution under which we were empowered to act, yet we found that so eager were the prisoners to relate their grievances, and so earnestly did they urge their own personal complaints and alleged injuries, that the committee could not, without creating a feeling of apparent unfairness in the minds of the prisoners, check the introduction of much irrelevant and immaterial testimony.

Your committee was received by all prison officials, from Warden Hoyle down, in the most courteous and obliging manner. President Duffy of the prison board and Warden Hoyle at the outset had but one simple declaration and request to make to the committee, which in substance was as follows: "We earnestly desire and hope your inquiry will be as complete and thorough as honorable men can make it, and that you will go to the extreme limit and very bottom of every complaint made here or elsewhere about this institution, and comb this penitentiary from one end to the other, and let the truth be known, regardless of whom it hurts or whom it helps. To this end we are at your command and service, and will assist you whenever or wherever you may direct. Otherwise, each of us and the other officers of this institution desire to retire beyond and away from the investigation; therefore, as far as your committee is concerned, no official of the prison will, directly or indirectly, intrude or inject themselves into the inquiry or give any advice or make any suggestions, only as when requested by the committee or the sergeant-at-arms for the committee."

At the request of the committee, Attorney General Webb detailed his chief deputy, Raymond Benjamin, to accompany the committee as its legal representative. Mr. Benjamin, from the outset of the inquiry, has rendered this committee most valuable and skillful service. He has conducted the inquiry with extreme patience, fairness and rare legal ability, and has devoted his entire time to the inquiry in the most disinterested and impartial manner.

The testimony taken covers over twenty-eight hundred pages, and comprises the complete record of every phase of the inquiry, save only such facts as were obtained by personal contact and conversation with many hundreds of convicts.

This transcript, together with the committee's findings of facts and conclusions, are hereby submitted for consideration by this House.

FINDINGS FROM TESTIMONY.

General Conditions. The population of San Quentin prison consists of about two thousand persons, all of whom at some time or other have been convicted or have pleaded guilty in some part of the State of California to some violation of the law, reaching in extent from murder down to petit larceny. The great majority of this population, however, are not really bad men at heart, nor are they in any sense to be classed as confirmed or incurable criminals; in fact, the greater majority of them could, we believe, be redeemed and sent back to society cured, if their first confinement could be had apart and away from vicious and hardened criminals. Such persons, or a goodly portion of them, after their arrival at San Quentin, adjust themselves to prison life and conditions and observe the prison regulations and have little or no trouble, either with their fellow prisoners, prison guards or other prison officers; but, upon the other hand, there are now confined in San Quentin a considerable number of real bad characters—men of rough, desperate, criminal and brutal natures—who are hardened and unyielding, and are constantly warring and protesting against every form of restraint, discipline and government. Then there is to be added to this extremely tough criminal class the natural chronic grumbler and malcontent (see Trans. March 31st, pp. 48, 49, 50; Thursday, March 30th, pp. 162 to 200)—the person who, when free, spends his nights in outhouses or under railroad water-tanks, and procures his living by means of the sandbag or pistol. This small portion of the population of San Quentin consists of perhaps not more than twenty-five per cent of its population, furnishes the real problem that this, and all prison authorities, as well as society, has to deal with; and it is this depraved, and truly bad class, that is responsible for much, if not all, of the perplexing and heart-breaking difficulties and problems that have to be squarely met and solved behind San Quentin's gloomy walls. And your committee believe that this class, and this class alone, spurred on, perhaps, by a few more clever criminals, is now responsible for the great outcry of wrongs and cruelties that are alleged to have been perpetrated against the prisoners by the officials at San Quentin. This desperate class is everlastingly and constantly protesting against the law without and the rules within the prison walls. Many of them are cunning and skillful in persuading otherwise tractable prisoners to discontent and rebellion. They come to the prison, many of them with long records of fearful crimes for which they have served time in other prisons. They hate the law, and despise society that they have shocked with their brutal crimes; they reach the prison fully determined to create every possible difficulty and embarrassment for those charged by law with their detention and confinement, and to enlist the aid of every other prisoner in the institution to join them in their conspiracies against the prison officials and rules. To get good prisoners with them and drag them down to their debased criminal level is their chief thought, and to accomplish this these desperate characters resort to the most subtle, clever and devilish conduct. They have no regard for kind and benevolent treatment. It is to eat, sleep, and daily mingle, and in every way associate and affiliate with and become a part of such human and fiendish incorrigible criminals that the people of California are yearly sending hundreds of their unfortunate boys who have slipped for just one moment and violated some law in which they have been detected. Is it any wonder, then, that this boy comes back to you and society an almost unredeemable and hopeless criminal? Or is it any wonder that prison officials, who are by law charged with the confinement and control of such prisoners, are driven to their wit's end at times to discover the method, or mode and manner, of securing proper prison discipline and government, and keep this unruly population under control? Your committee find from the testimony and from interviews with hundreds of prisoners that this bad class of criminals will not yield in the slightest degree to kind and ordinary treatment. A kind word from an official is regarded as weakness or fear, and is only too often met with the most vile and obscene language from the incorrigible prisoner. The best of food is termed by them as "rotten," the slightest task of work and the mildest restraint as abject slavery and brutality on the part of the prison officials. Any kind of punishment for violation of prison rules becomes at once in their minds the highest type of official vengeance and personal hatred. "Feed these men turkey and cranberry sauce and they would soon kick their heads off," testified one prisoner, who has for two years each day been in and about the dining-room. That this class of prisoners are fed, clothed and cared for better here than they ever were outside the prison, and yet they constantly protest and abuse the management, is the substance of much of the testimony on this point taken. A number of these malcontents just described testified that the serving of rotten meat and wormy fruit was the basis upon which the organized revolt of last June took place.

The cellroom in San Quentin is at this time totally inadequate to accommodate the population, and in order to provide sleeping apartments, the prison authorities must necessarily crowd as many as three and four persons in one small cell, originally intended for only one person. This overcrowding in a large degree contributes to the increase and prevalence of that most bestial and unprintable crime against nature, the sexual pervert and the sodomist, and to this one debasing crime can be charged much of the heartbreaking and discipline-destroying conditions that exist in San Quentin to-day, and assists in a lamentable degree in demoralization of many inmates who would otherwise become and remain good law-observing prisoners. Your committee is glad, however, to report that this dark and awful crime in San Quentin is soon to be relieved by the completion of the new and up-to-date and thoroughly ventilated and heated cellhouse, now fast approaching completion. Perhaps there is not in all the world a more modern and up-to-date building of its kind than this new cellroom. Light, heat, ventilation and sanitary conditions are all provided upon the most scientific, modern and up-to-date plan.

It seems very strange that no reference to this great improvement has ever been made in any of the numerous criticisms that have been given that relate to the management of affairs at San Quentin. In the opinion of your committee such criticisms should be tempered somewhat by the fact that this great work, built almost entirely by the prisoners themselves, is nearly completed and then when it is completed all of the old worn-out buildings are to be destroyed. This means that most of the causes for complaint will have likewise been removed.

Dining-room and Kitchen. The old dining-room and kitchen, while lacking many of the modern conveniences in the way of structure, ventilation, sanitary conditions and general equipment, have been kept as sanitary and clean as is possible in such rooms. The ceilings and walls are cleaned by frequent whitewashing; the windows are clean and the dining-room tables are clean. The service in the dining-room, while not of the best, is as good as can be obtained under the existing conditions. The food is furnished the men in individual tin receptacles and thereafter an extra supply of food is passed about in a large common dish; but any imperfections or disagreeable conditions that now exist in the old dining-room and kitchen are soon to be corrected forever by the completion within a few weeks of perhaps one of the most modern dining rooms and kitchens that can be found in any institution of its kind. There is attached to this new kitchen a commodious and up-to-date refrigerating plant, and every appointment by way of structure, sanitary conditions and equipment. This room is perfect in scientific construction and sanitary conditions.

The Captain of the Yard. Before going to San Quentin, your committee heard much of the alleged brutality and of the wolfishness of Captain Randolph. These reports were constantly dinned into our ears, and although we were informed that Captain Randolph had greatly modified his treatment of the unfortunate men placed under his charge, yet he was said to be revengeful and naturally cruel, and that no good or proper reformation could come to San Quentin without the removal of this man, as the prisoners thoroughly despised him. Therefore, your committee went to San Quentin with considerable feeling of prejudice against him; but your committee has put aside such prejudice against him, and have made every effort within their power to get at the exact truth of this and all other matters in relation to San Quentin, regardless of whom it pleases or displeases. Your committee find that the greater preponderance of the creditable testimony shows that at least for the past two years every person committed to San Quentin, whether rich or poor, learned or unlearned, black, white or yellow, franchised, disfranchised or otherwise, has been treated alike by Captain Randolph. Captain Randolph is a very quiet man, but a stern disciplinarian. He is a man with perfect poise and composure under all circumstances, and is, as your committee believe, absolutely without fear. He is neither harsh nor unkind, but is strong, commanding, and just to all.

Perhaps a fair indication to the character of Captain Randolph may be had if your committee recites just what is said and done upon the receipt of a new prisoner. Captain Randolph or Captain Murray receives the convict at his office; he is asked a few simple questions in a not unkind manner, in a low, quiet, even tone of voice; his name, age, occupation; the nature of the crime for which he was convicted; if he has ever committed and been punished for any other crime; if so, the time, place, where, and duration of sentence. The newcomer is then requested to deposit whatever he may have in his pockets with the clerk of the prison. Captain Randolph, or his assistant, inspects every article. The prisoner is first taken to the photograph gallery, then to the identification or Bertillon room, thence to a bathroom, which is closed, and kept in a neat, sanitary condition. Here he takes his bath in the presence of the attendant of the bathroom, and then goes to the tailor to be measured for his clothes. He is then examined by the prison doctor, who makes a careful examination, especially for tuberculosis, venereal or other contagious diseases. If any such are found he is sent to the hospital for treatment. If not, he is given his bed, which consists of two and one half pairs of heavy, coarse, common blankets, and a tick filled with straw, and is sent in company with a turnkey to his cell, and the last words he receives from Captain Randolph or his assistant is information as to the prison rules. He leaves Captain Randolph or his assistant with these words, in substance: "The rules of this prison are not many, nor are any of them harsh or unreasonable under the circumstances, but such as they are they must be carefully observed. If you observe these simple rules and attend diligently to the duties and tasks set for you, you will never be interfered with or have any trouble here. Be very careful that you observe these rules. If you do not know what they are, make inquiry concerning them as often as you please." Such, in substance, is the statement made to each and every prisoner entering this institution. And in January last, the Board of Prison Directors and Warden Hoyle made arrangements whereby all of the men will soon be supplied with soap, towels, tooth brushes, sheets and pillow cases. The next day the new prisoner, if able to work, is sent to the jute mill, where every prisoner under the inflexible rules commences his prison task. If a prisoner, after serving a reasonable time, has faithfully performed his duties in this jute mill, and his record is good, he is given the first place outside to which he is best adapted, provided there is a vacancy; but no good prisoner is removed from a task on the outside for the purpose of creating a vacancy for the intended graduate from the jute mill. He must simply wait until the opening comes through the release or promotion of the person whose task or place he is to be promoted to.

Meat, Bread and Fruit Conditions. Owing to the fact that so much publicity has been given to, and so much complaint has been made of the alleged serving of tainted and rotten meat, sour bread, and wormy fruit to the inmates of San Quentin, and since it has been publicly declared by newspaper reports and by public speakers that the constant serving of decayed meat and spoiled fruit was the direct and immediate cause of what has been termed the "bread riot" at San Quentin on the 8th and 9th day of June, 1912, resulting as it did in the killing of one person and the wounding of two other inmates by one of the guards, and also in the punishment of over forty-five prisoners in solitary confinement, and the alleged brutal and inhuman punishment of innocent persons; therefore, your committee deemed it of the utmost importance that this particular question should be inquired into with the greatest earnestness, detail and minuteness.

With this thought in mind, your committee has gone very exhaustively into this phase of the inquiry, and, as we believe, omitted no single fact or item of evidence obtainable that would or could possibly give any light on this subject. Witnesses from among the convicts were secured by the committee after not less than four hundred inmates had been closely questioned and urged by the different members of the committee to come forward and tell the whole truth in reference to the riot. It is, perhaps, well to add that every prisoner talked with, and every witness sworn, was asked the same question: "Tell us about the meat, bread, fruit and other foods served to the prisoners within the past two years." Witnesses were called from among the convicts who had formerly worked in the kitchen and dining-room and those now in charge of such work. The committee personally investigated the question from every possible angle that they might be able to present to this House the entire truth upon this very important phase of the inquiry, and as a result your committee report that the preponderance of the creditable testimony shows as follows:

The meats served in this institution for the last past two years is now, and has been, of the very best quality obtainable. Such meat as is received at the institution is all governmentally inspected, stamped and tagged before shipment, and minutely and carefully examined upon arrival at the prison by no less than four different officials. The meats received consist of beef, mutton, pork and fresh fish, and delivered to the institution in ample quantities. The average daily meat supply to the prison is substantially as follows: The general mess, at which some 1600 men are fed, is supplied daily with from 850 to 1649 pounds, divided as follows: female mess, about 20 pounds; hospital mess, about 40 pounds; officials and guards' mess, 227 pounds; night guards, 183 pounds; warden's house, 7 pounds. That is to say, on the days that roast beef is furnished the general mess receives in the neighborhood of 1649 pounds. On days when lamb or mutton or corned beef hash are served the amount to the general mess is in the neighborhood of 800 pounds. Lamb and mutton is served every other Friday, salt pork every Saturday, and an abundance of fresh fish every other Friday. This meat is served to the men in the general mess one day in the form of a stew, in which vegetables of various kinds are cooked therewith. On these days a smaller amount of beef is used. On the next day, for instance, the beef would be served as roast beef with brown potatoes and gravy. Then upon another day is served corned beef and cabbage, these being for the noon meals. Twice, and sometimes three times each week beefsteak is served for breakfast. For a more comprehensive idea as to the different kinds of food and manner of serving see Trans., March 30, page 179. The vegetables served consist of the best quality of potatoes obtainable, cabbage, onions, turnips, carrots, beans and peas and parsnips. Cereal foods consist of cornmeal, oatmeal, hominy, rice and tapioca. The fruits served consist of dried and properly cured prunes, apples, currants, raisins, peaches and apricots. All of these articles of food are served in ample and sufficient quantities; and if your committee were to criticise as to the amount we would be compelled, under the testimony taken, to state that more of these food products were served daily to the men than was absolutely necessary to supply the demand and appetites of the population. These foods are prepared in the prison kitchen under the constant vigilant watchfulness and care of tried and trusty convict cooks, having at their head now a negro convict chef, and all of them under a free steward, whom your committee believes is shown by the testimony to be extremely painstaking and careful in seeing that these foods are thoroughly inspected before use and are prepared, cooked, seasoned and served in as palatable and appetizing condition as it is possible to prepare such foods in such appointed kitchens. The bread is prepared and baked from an ordinarily good grade of flour, and is a good, wholesome article, and the quality of the bread served in the prison has been in the past two years uniformly good in all respects, with a possible exception of not more than three times, upon which occasions the bread served was not up to the standard, this being caused by some inadvertence or accident not fully explained to the committee.

There was considerable evidence produced before the committee showing that at various times the meat served was tainted. Other testimony was given before the committee that the meat served was bad nearly all of the time, and still further testimony was given that the meat served at times, and at or about the time of the riot, June 8 and 9, 1912, was actually rotten and decayed meat, and was served to the men in the general mess with maggots adhering to the meat and floating in the stew, and that the fruits served were wormy and the potatoes likewise so affected, and that the quantity of meat served was away below the amount necessary to sustain the men engaged in hard work, and that the bread served was nearly always sour, unpalatable and undigestible. On the other hand, there is a large amount of evidence, and your committee believes a great preponderance of the creditable evidence shows the contrary. This testimony is to the effect that no spoiled meat was ever served the men. That the utmost care was always exercised to prevent just such an occurrence. This evidence shows that the meats, for instance, were closely and carefully inspected upon their arrival at the prison by the proper officers and that upon one or two occasions in the past two years certain meat deliveries were found tainted in spots and condemned and destroyed, and that bad fruit deliveries were likewise, after examination, destroyed. The evidence further shows that before preparing any meats in the kitchen it was the daily custom of the steward, then the chef, to make a very careful and critical examination of every pound of meat used, and that no spoiled meat was ever prepared as food for the men. Witnesses upon this point were called from among the convicts in every department of the prison.

One of the chief complaints registered by quite a number of the prisoners was directed against the prison management in that the meat furnished the prison by the contractors was of a good quality, but that scarcely anything but bones and gristle was ever served to the general mess. This complaint was seriously urged by some witnesses as the real and immediate cause of the riot and in this connection your committee desires to state that the evidence upon this point shows that after the arrival of the meats at the prison each day, these meats are received in the meatshop outside the prison walls and in a basement underneath the warden's general office, in which is situated a fairly constructed and equipped refrigerating plant. Upon receipt of the meat it is carefully inspected and any bad meat is either rejected or condemned and destroyed. The loin of the hind-quarter of the beef and about half of the round is cut away and sent to the two hospitals, the guards and the officers' mess, while all of the balance of the carcass is sent directly to the prison kitchen to be used on the following day, this meat being received about the hour of eleven o'clock each day. The lamb, mutton and pork are delivered to the prison mess and prepared and cooked as previously described.

The Riot and Its Immediate Cause. The testimony shows that on the 8th and 9th days of June, 1912, there was a serious riot or outbreak among the prisoners during the noon meal of each of these days. These riots started at a given and arranged signal in the center of what is designated as the china dining room, at a time when 1,000 men were eating their meal. The immediate cause of this riot is extremely hard to determine. Two or three witnesses who are now out on parole and one or two witnesses now prisoners, testified that the riot was caused solely and only as a protest against the continual serving of rotten and decayed meat and fruit and sour bread to the general prison mess, while other prisoners and paroled men testified that the immediate cause of the riot was caused solely and only because of the fact that little or no meat besides the bone and gristle was ever served to the general mess; while others testify that the riot was the outcome of a preconceived conspiracy on the part of a few desperate criminals, who hoped in the disturbance to create such a condition of excitement that they might secure or kill guards, dynamite the walls and make their escape.

Other witnesses are insistent that the riot was caused as a protest against punishment of prisoners; and still others insist that the reason of the riot was because the kitchen and dining room force were robbing the general mess in order to supply more meat and other foods to what is known as the side table where about 250 persons such as mechanics, farm laborers and other more favored prisoners, ate. Other testimony is equally insistent that the riots were occasioned by a conspiracy of the more desperate criminals, aided, abetted and encouraged by certain shrewd prisoners, for the sole and only purpose of creating such a sentiment throughout the State against the prison warden and the board of prison directors, as would compel public opinion to demand their retirement. Your committee deemed it of the utmost importance to ascertain, if possible, just which of these reasons given were the true facts and cause of the outbreak, because upon the determination of this question hinges, as your committee believes, the most important phase of this investigation, and because the fact that a large number of prisoners who, it is alleged, and, your committee believes, proven, to be the conspirators or ringleaders in this affair, have been punished in solitary confinement since that time until now for this offense, has created on the part of some people in the State an outburst of resentment and harsh criticism of the prison officials therefor. It is urged by some critics that the prisoners now undergoing punishment for this disturbance may or may not have been guilty of the offense, and even if they were guilty the punishment was too serious. It is contended that the riot resulted in a marked improvement in both quantity and quality of the food supply of the institution and the more humane treatment of the rest of the prisoners, and that these men responsible for this change should not have been punished at all, and if so punished they should have been forgiven and permitted to mingle with the rest of the inmates.

Your committee, after having studied every possible angle of this most serious question, finds that the creditable evidence shows that there was a conspiracy formed within the prison by not more than one hundred of the most desperate, hardened and incorrigible prisoners for the sole and only purpose of discrediting the prison officials in the minds of the people of this State. These conclusions are unanimously reached by your committee because it is conclusively shown by the testimony that those confined in San Quentin prison who were reasonably observant of the prison rules (and this includes over eighty per cent of the population), were treated in the most humane and kindly manner possible under the circumstances of their confinement; that the reliable prisoners' testimony shows there never was a single instance of decayed or rotten meats or spoiled fruit or any other unwholesome or unpalatable foods served in that institution during the past two years, and that their foods were served in great abundance and that no prisoner was ever unjustly or unlawfully treated, and that all testimony before this committee charging that law-abiding prisoners were unjustly or cruelly treated, or that prisoners were singled out and punished for pure personal vengeance—that any rotten or decayed meat or other spoiled or tainted foods were served to the men, or that there was a lack of sufficient quantity of good and wholesome food, or that there was any favoritism shown in the service as to quantity or quality of food, or that any unkindness was ever shown to any prisoner—is contradicted by competent and reliable testimony.

The testimony further shows that immediately upon the beginning of the riot on Saturday, June 8th, the guards and officers of the prison carefully noted and observed the particular individuals who were responsible for the initial movement in this riot; that within a few minutes after the riot had started every movable thing in the dining-room was demolished, the food supplies destroyed, the windows broken out and missiles were hurled through the air at the officers; that the riot soon subsided and the men quietly retired to their quarters, except a few ringleaders in the riot, who were sent to the dungeon and to solitary confinement in the sash and blind. The testimony further shows that on the following day, Sunday, at the midday meal, the outbreak occurred at the same table, and by practically the same people, when over 1,600 men were in the dining-room. At the outbreak much more damage was done. The guards were assaulted, the steward pursued with threats to kill him, the storeroom was broken into and every vestige of the food supply destroyed and the entire movable equipment of the dining-room again completely wrecked. Many hundreds of the prisoners who took no part in the riot surged out from the dining-room into a narrow passageway in their endeavor to escape the fury of the riot. The guards mingled among the men in a desperate attempt to quiet them; and Captain Randolph, though threats of dire vengeance had been made against him and his life threatened, and although he was entreated not to show himself, entered the dining-room and remained among the men, urging them to disperse until the end of the disturbance. One of the guards on the wall, one Grubb by name, acting on his own initiative, during the heat of the excitement of the riot, fired two shots among the rioters, killing one man and wounding two others. The riot immediately subsided. The man shot is shown by the testimony of one man to have had in his possession a long, sharpened knife, manufactured in the prison from an old file. From the commencement of this Sunday riot until it closed, the officers and guards and kitchen and dining-room attendants observed closely the men exciting and urging the riot, all of whom were reported to the prison management, and afterwards placed upon trial and upon conviction of participating in the outbreak. Some thirty of these ringleaders were punished by having all their privileges revoked and by solitary confinement in the dungeon and in what is known as the incorrigible ward, or sash and blind. With reference to the shooting of the prisoner named, by the guard on the wall, there was some testimony in the record that this shooting amounted to little short of cold and deliberate murder, as the prisoner killed is alleged to have been trying only to escape and get out of the way of the fury of the riot; then again there is testimony that this unfortunate man was actively engaged in encouraging the rioters. But upon this question your committee did not investigate the matter as fully and completely as it might have done, for the reason that the coroner of Marin County was called upon to, and did have, a full investigation and inquisition into this very unfortunate occurrence, and the verdict of the coroner's jury resulted in a complete vindication and justification of the guard, and the proceedings of such coroner's inquest will be found in the Transcript of April 5th, pages 72-73.

Punishment of Prisoners. The evidence discloses that the ringleaders responsible for the riot above described were punished by being confined in solitary confinement, where your committee upon arrival at San Quentin found seventeen still confined and undergoing punishment. Your committee further finds from the testimony that many of those prisoners so punished for participating in this riot have long since been discharged and are now mingling with the general population, some having been released from the prison, and that all of those still remaining in solitary confinement are there now because of the violation of some prison rules while in solitary confinement. Upon this point, your committee reports as shown by the evidence that no one prisoner was punished in solitary confinement for participating in this riot who was not guilty of the offense charged and that there was no intention on the part of any single prison official to single out for such punishment any individual who was innocent or who did not participate and take part in such disturbance; and your committee further state that the punishment of prisoners now in solitary confinement is not at this time continued and being administered for their guilt in connection with the riot, but is due and continued up to this time by reason of the violation of the rules laid down by the prison authorities.

The Punishment Room. That which is commonly called the sash and blind, or punishment room, is a large, well lighted and ventilated room situated on the fourth floor of a large brick building, known as the sash and blind, so called because of this particular room having once been used as a sash and blind factory. The size of this room is (see Trans., April 5th, p. 64, etc.) 99 by 57 feet, and about on an average of 38 feet from floor to ceiling. This very large room has three large windows facing south, six west, five east, which are always kept open in moderate or warm weather. In the center of this large floor space is built thirty large wooden cells, the same being about 5 x 9 feet and 7½ feet high. (See Trans., April 5th, page 68 et seq.) When these cells are filled, their inhabitants being thirty people, and one guard present, the air supply per capita is 3.848 cubic feet. Upon our visit to this punishment room March 26th and 30th, there were nineteen inmates incarcerated therein. The room and cells were clean and sanitary, and the testimony shows that this condition always obtains. The doors of the cells are of iron lattice type. In each cell is installed the Armitage type of flushing toilet, with water pressure directly connecting. There is a ventilator placed in each cell at the farthest and highest point, immediately over the toilet. This large cellroom, as well as the cells, is well flooded with light during the day, there being no obstruction to the windows or cell doors, which doors have openings in the lattice work of about three and one half inches square. The doors of these cells are about six and one half feet high. There is a wicket or opening in the upper part of each cell door, being five feet and three inches from the floor. Through this opening food is passed and at times refractory inmates are punished by compelling them to thrust their hands from the inside of the cell through this wicket and are there handcuffed on the outside, remaining in this position from one to six hours at a time. This is called "cuffing up" or "hanging up" in San Quentin parlance.

The rules of the prison regarding punishment are that when the milder forms of punishment do not obtain the desired effect, the offender is then placed in solitary confinement described. The prisoner, under the rules, in solitary confinement, is not allowed to speak only when spoken to by the guard. He is fed two meals, procured from the general mess of whatever that happens to be, for the midday meal, and the only other meal given daily is about half a loaf of bread and a sufficient amount of water. If he speaks or talks or makes any unnecessary or unusual noises he is punished either by giving him only bread and water for that or several days; and if he still persists in his violation of rules then by "cuffing up" as above described. The prison officials contend, and they are corroborated by a number of other prisoners, that when a prisoner is so punished by being placed in solitary confinement or by being "cuffed up," it is the invariable and unalterable rule of the prison to at once release the offender on his request, coupled with his promise to behave and observe the rules in the future. This fact was denied generally by all of the prisoners now in punishment, but upon pressing the question it developed that these prisoners had never made such a request. They admitted that they had not done so for the reason that as they had been guilty of nothing for which they ought to have been punished, they did not propose to admit guilt by pleading for release from such punishment. But the evidence on this point shows that no prisoners in San Quentin ever asked this favor of Captain Randolph or Warden Hoyle in good faith, and made promises of good behavior, and were refused. The committee further find that it was the universal custom and habit of both Colonel Duffy of the prison board and Warden Hoyle to frequently visit, within the past two years, this incorrigible ward and in every instance of such visit to conduct themselves and their manner of speech in extreme kindness, urging these prisoners to reform and try to make good, but that these kindly advances were frequently met by the most obscene and unprintable language and abuse from the very men the officers earnestly and honestly desired to help.

Punishment Inflicted in Solitary Confinement. Owing to various charges made as to acts alleged to have been committed in the building known as the sash and blind and used as the principal punishment room of the prison, your committee took great pains to go into this matter very thoroughly.

This is the fourth floor of a building formerly used as a sash and blind factory, and has three guards posted there doing duty on shifts of eight hours each. The guards doing duty there since about May 26, 1912, are Messrs. Irwin, Grubb and Wambold, Irwin being the principal in charge.

Much testimony was introduced as to the said guards, and particularly Irwin and Grubb, having exceeded their authority and been guilty of acts of cruelty toward some of the prisoners under their charge. The evidence indicates that at least two or three of the prisoners confined there were punished much more severely than the infractions of the rules of which they were guilty would justify.

These three guards all testified that their explicit instructions from both Warden Hoyle and Captain Randolph was that no corporal punishment should be administered without the sanction and order of Hoyle or Randolph. Your committee conclude that these instructions were not followed, and that on at least two occasions Irwin and Grubb violated their orders. We are agreed, however, from all the evidence that such acts were without the knowledge or consent of either Warden Hoyle or Captain Randolph.

PUNISHMENT.

(a) The Dungeon. This place of punishment consists of a number of cells built of solid masonry and situated on the ground, with little or no ventilation, protected by double doors, one of wood and the other iron, and when closed will exclude all or nearly all of the light, and when seen by your committee were clean and sanitary. Two members of your committee visited this dungeon on the 5th day of February and on that occasion this dungeon was in a clean and sanitary condition. There is furnished to the prisoners confined in the dungeon for punishment, usually, bread and water twice a day. They are provided with a bed tick filled with straw placed upon the floor of the dungeon and are supplied with two and one half pairs of blankets. The floor of the dungeon being composed of heavy concrete laid upon the ground, necessarily becomes and remains in some degree damp, and your committee believe that confinement for any extent of time in this dungeon is, and necessarily must be, injurious to health. But punishment in the dungeon, as well as punishment by means of the strait-jacket, in the past two years has been reduced almost to the minimum (See Trans., p. 4, March 28, 1913, etc.). The punishment in the dungeon is only imposed when all other milder forms of punishment have failed to bring about obedience and proper discipline, and your committee are unanimous in their hopes that if a dungeon or dark punishment chamber is absolutely necessary to proper discipline, then it should be situated in a place absolutely free from dampness.

(b) The strait-jacket. The strait-jacket is the severest kind of punishment ever inflicted upon prisoners in San Quentin, and, as before said, the use of it has almost completely disappeared. During the last two years the total number of hours of all prisoners punished by means of the jacket is but a trifle over twenty-seven hours, applied to seven prisoners, ranging in periods of time of from a few minutes to four and one half hours and the testimony shows that no prisoner under strict prison rules can be so punished until after every other method of punishment fails and then there must be a careful medical examination made by the prison physician to ascertain if the prisoner about to be punished is sufficiently strong in heart action to undergo such punishment. This strait-jacket is made of heavy canvas, and is so constructed so as to conform as nearly as possible with the shape of the body from the neck extending to the heels. It is made of one piece and open at the back for the entire length. It fits closely at the neck and is bound with leather as are the edges along the opening in the back. These edges are double for the entire length by a heavy piece of leather extending back on the outer and inner side for about four or five inches, in which are set heavy metal eyelets, being about one inch apart for the purpose of lacing the sack or jacket tightly around the body. For this purpose a stout cord is used. There are no openings for the arms, but pockets on the inside of the jacket in which the victim's hands are placed. The extent and degree of punishment inflicted by means of the strait-jacket depends entirely upon the man administering the punishment. It may be, and in fact in years past has been, laced upon victims so tightly as to cause the most excruciating and horrible anguish, suffering and in many instances permanent injuries, but your committee finds from the testimony produced that within the past two years Warden Hoyle has insisted, and now insists, that punishment by the strait-jacket should only be resorted to when every other known possible means has proven ineffective to bring about proper observance of prison rules and government; and as before said, the use of it has been reduced almost to the minimum according to the evidence, Warden Hoyle's directions being never to lace the jacket tight enough to cause the slightest permanent injury to the victim, and that upon every occasion under the instructions given by Warden Hoyle, the victim is immediately released from such punishment upon his promise to behave and observe the prison regulations; and that no prisoner has ever been confined in the strait-jacket within the past two years only and until so directed by the warden, after a careful investigation of all the facts connected with the case. With one possible exception, your committee find that these rules of the warden and prison management have been strictly observed. In that specific instance, Grubb and Irwin did administer punishment by the strait-jacket without following the directions of the warden in having the prisoner previously medically examined, and instructions for such punishment first received from the warden.

Doctor Duncanson's charges. One of the first witnesses heard upon this inquiry was one Dr. E. E. Duncanson, aged 59 years, a graduate of the medical college at Ann Arbor in the year 1872. Dr. Duncanson was sentenced from the county of Los Angeles in the year 1909 under a sentence of fifty years upon the charge and conviction of rape upon his stepdaughter. He was convicted of this crime upon the unsupported testimony of this stepchild, who was about ten years of age. After Duncanson had been incarcerated for a period of approximately two years in the penitentiary, the complaining witness relented and made an affidavit to the effect that the testimony that she had given accusing Dr. Duncanson of this crime was false. This was made the basis of an application to the Governor of this state for a pardon for Dr. Duncanson. The Governor of this state as well as the prosecuting attorney of Los Angeles County deemed the matter of sufficient importance to send a messenger to Kentucky, where the girl then and now resides, for the purpose of making closer inquiries regarding her affidavit above referred to. Thereupon Deputy District Attorney Keyes of Los Angeles County made a trip to the State of Kentucky, and made inquiries of this girl regarding her purported affidavit exonerating Duncanson of the crime which she was formerly instrumental in convicting him of. (See Keyes' testimony, Trans., April 5th, page 13, etc.) It was testified to before the committee by Mr. Keyes that upon his arrival in Kentucky this girl, notwithstanding the fact that she had made the affidavit above referred to exonerating Dr.

Duncanson, told him in private that her original story of Dr. Duncanson's criminal assault and intercourse with her was true as she had originally testified at the trial, and furthermore that she had been induced to make this affidavit in order to get Duncanson out of jail.

It is further shown that Mr. Keyes made further inquiries of and concerning this girl in Kentucky, and found that her reputation for truth and veracity was very bad and that she was very much undeveloped mentally and was living with her grandparents in a little shack in the mountains of Kentucky. Upon Mr. Keyes' return to California the facts as above stated were reported to the Governor, who after having studied this question seriously for a long period of time finally reached the conclusion that there was sufficient showing made to raise a very slight doubt in his mind as to the guilt of Dr. Duncanson, and giving the doctor the benefit of this slight doubt he was finally pardoned.

It is alleged by Dr. Duncanson that soon after entering the penitentiary he was placed at work in the jute mill performing the labor which finally resulted in serious and permanent injuries to his back. The injuries, it is claimed, were resultant from the operation by him of a small handpress used in the jute mill for compressing waste jute for use as fuel. (See Duncanson's testimony, Trans., March 26, p. 134, etc.) The doctor's injury, as testified to by him, was caused by the winding up of a windlass attached to the jute press, also there were lacerations or tearing of the psoas muscles on the right side which resulted eventually in psoas abscesses; that the liver was partly torn from its suspensory ligaments, and which injuries the doctor claims were permanent and still exist, and that he received no medical attention for such injuries during the remainder of his time in the penitentiary; that he was treated harshly and cruelly by the prison officials, and especially by the prison physician, Dr. Stone; that he was unable at times to walk, and during all such times was cruelly and wrongfully dealt with and neglected; that he was finally permitted in the hospital but was waited upon only by an ex-prizefighter and an ex-bartender; that they were cruel to him, and that the prison physician gave him no medical attention, but on the contrary was extremely cruel to him and was in the habit of using vile and obscene language toward him and in all manner neglecting him when he was ill. The doctor's testimony further shows that he was in good physical condition when he entered San Quentin prison, and that by the reason of the injuries above mentioned he was crippled and maimed for the rest of his life. Your committee gave a great deal of time, and listened to a large amount of testimony on the question of the alleged injuries to the said Dr. Duncanson—Duncanson's testimony covering as it does over one hundred pages of this transcript. (See the doctor's testimony, Trans., March 26th.) Testimony was introduced by a large number of witnesses who, in nearly every instance, refuted the statements made by Dr. Duncanson. Notably among these were Dr. Wade J. Stone, the attending physician at San Quentin (see Trans., March 27, p. 3, etc.), E. L. Shaffino (Trans., April 5, pp. 3 and 34, etc.), Wm. J. Danford (Trans., April 5, p. 36), Warden Hoyle and Mark E. Noon. Several other witnesses were heard upon the alleged injuries, abuse and cruelty against Dr. Duncanson, all of whom gave testimony directly contradicting his statements. There was testimony also produced before the committee by Dr. R. L. Wilbur (see Trans., March 28, p. 112, etc.). Dr. Wilbur is the head of the Lane Hospital at San Francisco, an institution conducted by Stanford University. It is shown by this testimony that Dr. Duncanson upon his release from the penitentiary in September, 1912, came to that institution for examination and treatment. It is shown by this witness that he made a thorough and complete examination of Dr. Duncanson and obtained at that time a complete history of the doctor's ills and injuries received throughout his life. (See Trans., March 28, pp. 115, 116, 117.) In this general history as given by Dr. Duncanson at that time at Lane's Hospital, appears the following: "Pneumonia at 18 years; general breakdown at 21; fell forty feet and landed sitting down, fracturing spine and pelvis, followed by complete paralysis from the costal margin down. The paralysis improved, however, after a period of five months, his feet dragging on the ground, as if he had lead shoes on. About five years later patient tried to step out of a buggy and fell to the ground helpless. (See Trans., March 28th, pp. 115, 116, 117.) About one year later patient sat down suddenly and was immediately relieved. The heavy sensation in the feet disappeared and he enjoyed afterwards the control of legs; however, he still had tenderness in lower dorsal spine. Up to the age of forty years enjoyed very good health, except slight weakness and tenderness in the back. Three and a half years ago patient had pneumonia again. At time of recovery patient was arrested and put to heavy work. Had two attacks of pleurisy; when working hard straining on the lever he experienced sensations of rupture of the diaphragm, followed by a sensation of spasmodic contraction of the muscles of the back. Three months later patient began to have blood and pus discharges, became bed-ridden and suffered severely from pain in the back. At present the patient has little headache." Such seems to have been the physical history as given by Dr. Duncanson himself at the time of the medical examination by Dr. Wilbur, immediately after the release of Dr. Duncanson from the penitentiary.

Dr. Wilbur further testified that upon such examination there was no definite abnormality, that there was some tenderness in the ninth dorsal vertebrae, which spot the doctor testified is the site of the original trouble. (See Trans., March 28, pp. 119, 120, 121.) The further examination discloses that the injury to Dr. Duncanson's spine in early manhood had been uncured; that on account of some cause there had been a recurrence which irritated the original disturbance to the spine, but that his old injury had really been in existence all the time. (See Trans., March 28, pp. 121, 122, 123.) Therefore, the testimony produced before your committee regarding the alleged injuries sustained by the said Dr. Duncanson while confined at San Quentin prison, have not in any manner been sustained, as it would appear from the great preponderance of evidence produced before your committee that Dr. Duncanson's injuries were sustained many years ago, and that the present difficulty which he complains of and now gives evidence of, by reason of which he is unable to use his limbs is simply a recurrence of the old and chronic difficulty. While it is true Duncanson testifies that this latter difficulty was brought about by overwork and extraordinary straining upon a windlass in compressing waste jute, in the penitentiary, your committee have carefully investigated all of these facts and have searched diligently for testimony among the prisoners then confined in the penitentiary to substantiate the occurrence of Duncanson's injuries, and we have been unable to secure any testimony sustaining the charges of Duncanson as to the manner of the injury sustained in the manner and form claimed by himself. And upon the question of the added charge on the part of Duncanson that he was given no proper medical attention while in the penitentiary, your committee has made an investigation into this part of Duncanson's charges and have found such charges unfounded, as shown by the testimony and without any foundation; the contrary being shown by the creditable testimony. Your committee made a general search among the convicts and officers of the prison to, if possible, substantiate the charges of Dr. Duncanson in this respect, but were unable to discover any testimony corroborating the said Duncanson in this or any other matter that he testified to before your committee; but, upon the contrary, the testimony shows Dr. Stone to have been a very competent and humane person, extremely kind and a great favorite with all prisoners. The evidence discloses that although the law officers who prosecuted Duncanson in Los Angeles were absolutely convinced of his guilt of the crime charged and upon which he was sentenced to the penitentiary, yet taking into consideration the fact that the child upon whom it is alleged he committed the criminal assault, being of very tender years, and being bereft of its parents and being mentally undeveloped, and taking into consideration these facts and realizing that this child gave the only testimony by which Duncanson was originally convicted and sent to the penitentiary, and that she having afterward recanted her sworn testimony given in court, by making an affidavit that her statements there given were untrue and that Dr. Duncanson was not guilty of any criminal assault upon her, and induced by others to make such a statement, and then later denying the truth of the statements made in such affidavit and stating as her only reason for making such affidavit that she desired and was induced to make such statements by others, in order to get Dr. Duncanson out of the penitentiary, and then a few days afterwards declaring again that her statements made in said affidavit were true, the Governor, after taking all of these matters into consideration and realizing the unreliability of any kind of testimony that this mentally undeveloped child might give, and realizing the tremendously heavy sentence under which Dr. Duncanson was resting, and being tortured with the fact that there was a bare possibility that this child's testimony upon any question might be doubted, he mercifully, after months of application and study to this case, decided to give Dr. Duncanson the benefit of the slight doubt that had been created in his mind and issued his pardon.

CONCLUSIONS.

Therefore, from the testimony produced and the personal examinations made into the affairs of San Quentin, your committee finds as conclusions the following:

First—That San Quentin Prison is overcrowded, and that this overcrowding of the institution is demoralizing to the inmates, physically, morally and mentally, but that this condition will in a few weeks be relieved by the completion and use of a most modern and up-to-date cell building, which building is constructed from every point of view upon the most modern and approved lines. Your committee further finds that out of approximately two thousand population at said institution, seventy-five per cent of these inmates are what might be termed men and boys, many of whom your committee believe could, under proper environment and care in their confinement, be reformed and sent back to society, reclaimed and made law-abiding and respectable citizens, were it not for the fact that these really only half bad prisoners are compelled to come in daily contact and association with a class of criminals who, as your committee believe, are absolutely irredeemable. Your committee believes that the mingling of this bad and desperate class of confined criminals with the better and younger class of inmates is a shocking public crime, and is, as we believe, responsible for a large number of the recidivists, or those who are returned to prison within a few months after their discharge for second offenses, and as well responsible for much of the discontent of the prison, and your committee cannot too strongly recommend that immediate steps be taken to correct this evil.

Your committee believes and very earnestly recommends that no first offender short of those guilty of murder in the first degree, or the brutal rapist who commits his most awful crime through force or great fear, or violates a child, and highway robbery committed by means of or threats of great bodily harm, should ever be sentenced to serve any portion of their time or be compelled to mingle with these hardened criminals, but that there should be, if we are to do anywhere near justice to society, established and had not an expensive but a separate institution for the first offenders for the violation of the ordinary criminal statutes of this State. So dire is the need of such an institution for first offenders, and so shocking is the crime not to have such an institution, that your committee feel justified in urging with all earnestness that an immediate change in the mode, manner and place of confinement of these better class of first offenders should be had. Your committee appreciates that it is quite impossible for any person who has not studied at close range such a penal institution to fully appreciate how desperately bad, incorrigible and practically irredeemable are about twenty per cent of the hardened criminals at San Quentin and the frightful harm that comes to the prisoner who desires to reform, by being compelled to daily mingle with this class of prisoners. But studying these questions as your committee has we feel that we cannot too earnestly urge and plead with the people, through the Legislature of the State of California, to correct the terrible evil that you are constantly scourging society with. Remembering always that in your mode and manner of punishment as it now exists, that you are not only not making any step forward in the way of reformation but that you are manufacturing out of the first offender boys of your State fiendish and brutal criminals to be turned back upon society from these institutions.

Food Supply. Second—Your committee further finds that within the last past two years the food supply furnished to the prisoners at San Quentin is ample and in overabundant and sufficient quantities and at no time during said period has any single individual prisoner been compelled to do without having ample and sufficient foods excepting only in cases where foods have been denied in very rare instances as punishment for the infraction of prison rules. The foods thus supplied are summarized as follows:

(a) That this food consists of an abundance of prime beef, mutton, lamb, pork, and fish, furnished and served on alternate days and occasions.

(b) That the other food supply consists of an ample quantity of potatoes, turnips, carrots, onions, parsnips, cabbage, beans, rice, hominy, corn meal and oatmeal, together with macaroni, vermicelli, tapioca, etc.

(c) Fruits consisting of dried prunes, apples, apricots, peaches, currants and raisins.

(d) Good, wholesome, well prepared bread, a fair grade of molasses, tea and coffee.

(e) Occasionally green foods in their season.

That at no time during and within the past two years has there been prepared and served to the prisoners in San Quentin prison any rotten or decayed meat or any spoiled or bad fruit, potatoes or vegetables or other foods of any kind, nature or description. That the foods served at San Quentin prison are prepared under all sanitary and proper manner possible, prepared by cooking, baking or otherwise in proper condition, and are correctly seasoned and served in a palatable and appetizing condition. That a constant and vigilant inspection is daily made by several prison officials and a number of prison convict chefs and cooks over every particle or amount of food prepared and served in the general mess daily at San Quentin. That approximately 1,600 prisoners eat and are served meals daily in one large dining-room known as the general mess, and that each individual prisoner in said dining-room is served precisely in the same manner and with the same amount and condition of food as any other prisoner. That no favoritism is shown the prisoners in this regard at the institution, and that the food is first served to the several tables and to individuals in individual dishes, then an extra amount is served each meal in a common receptacle carried there by convict waiters especially detailed for this purpose. These common dishes are, when more food is desired, passed from one individual to the other around the table. There are common bread dishes filled with bread, common meat dishes filled with meat or corned beef and cabbage, or lamb and curry with rice, or salt pork or roast pork, or roast beef, or beans or other food supplies. The men are supplied with individual tin or agate plates, with common ordinary table knives and forks and ordinary tin or other metal spoons. The time allowed for each meal varies from twenty to thirty minutes, and, finally, the utmost vigilance, care and watchfulness is at all times observed in the quality and quantity of food supplied, the mode and manner of preparation and serving of each meal. That the average physical condition of the prisoners in this institution is remarkably good and that sickness among the normally received prisoners is exceptional, the hospital population being recruited almost entirely from those arriving at the institution in a diseased or sickly condition. The dining-room and kitchen are kept extremely clean and sanitary in so far as it is possible in the old dining-room and kitchen. The new dining-room is nearly completed, and when so completed and occupied will prove a source of great satisfaction to the management and prisoners as well. This new building is constructed entirely of fireproof material and is a marvel of elegance of construction, sanitary conditions and equipment, and cannot, we believe, be surpassed in this region in this regard by any other institution. To this new kitchen is attached one of the most modern pre-cooling or refrigerating plants that it is possible to conceive of.

Punishment. The modes of punishment at San Quentin Prison are inflicted in various degrees and varying in extent to and commensurate with the offense proven against the individual, and consist of:

(a) Reprimand and caution.

(b) Loss of privileges, such as loss of tobacco, visitors and writing of letters.

(c) Confinement in the dungeon for certain prescribed periods and on certain prescribed food, usually bread and water twice per day or, perchance, sometimes only once per day, but always sufficient to amply sustain life and vigor.

(d) Solitary confinement in the incorrigible ward, commonly known there as the sash and blind, with ample food supply.

(e) By cuffing up, that is to say, the refractory prisoner is placed in the cell and his hands put through the wicket over iron door five feet high and is then secured by means of steel handcuffs, there to remain for stated and various periods.

(f) The appliance of the strait-jacket for not more than six consecutive hours.

Your committee find that the use of the strait-jacket in the past two years has been reduced almost to the minimum; that throughout the past two years but seven men have been thus punished, the total time being but twenty-seven hours, and that upon the occasion of punishment by the jacket no one prisoner during that time has been unduly tortured or made to suffer any injuries of any nature, and that no prisoner kept in the jacket is punished for a longer period than six hours, and that the offender is always released on promise of good behavior, and that no prisoner is punished with the jacket until every other form and degree of punishment has been tried and found ineffective.

That within the past two years no prisoner has been punished in the jacket in any unreasonable or cruel manner, but that the greatest caution is always exercised when this particular punishment has been applied.

The dungeon is used as punishment in the most humane manner possible under the circumstances, and no undue cruelties or personal vengeance has within the past two years obtained in the punishment of prisoners by confinement in the dungeon, and that no prisoner has been kept in the dungeon after he has promised obedience to prison rules.

Punishment in solitary confinement at San Quentin is accompanied with plenty of heat, light and air, and has but two elements of real punishment, i. e., the confinement itself and the inability of the prisoner to speak, which, when continued for long periods, becomes in many ways the severest kind of punishment. Your committee find that the application of this mode of punishment is always for an indefinite period and the prisoner always released on his promise of good behavior, and the application of punishment in this punishment room for the past two years has not been accompanied by any unusual cruelties, save two, and possibly three, occasions, when the guards Irwin and Grubb may have doubtless, under great stress and provocation, wrongfully struck the prisoners. But your committee find that if such acts of cruelty did occur that neither Warden Hoyle or Captain Randolph had the slightest knowledge of such acts. And had such alleged acts been known by them, the offending guard would have been discharged, and now doubtless will be, and, finally, with this one exception, your committee believe that no act of wrongdoing or acts of cruelty or unlawful punishment have been had within the past two years on any one prisoner in San Quentin.

Your committee further find that no prisoner was punished by confinement in the solitary room for participation in the so-called "bread riot," who was innocent of the offense; that, upon the contrary, each of those so punished for such offense was guilty of such offense as one of the prime movers and participants therein; that each had a fair trial upon such charge, and either pleaded or was found guilty of the offense charged, and, with the exceptions noted, none were cruelly, unlawfully or unjustly dealt with or punished. That no prisoner is now, or has, for the past few months, been kept confined in solitary as punishment for his participation in the riots, but such prisoners as are still remaining there were found guilty of some infraction of the rules.

Doctor Duncanson. Your committee further find that Doctor Duncanson was never treated in a cruel or improper manner at San Quentin, that he was given medical care and attention. That if he received any injuries at San Quentin while at work on a small jute press, it was a recurrence of an old and chronic injury. Your committee have no hesitancy in saying that Doctor Duncanson's charges of cruelty and lack of proper attention while at San Quentin, or his general charges of mismanagement of the prison have not, in any manner, form or part, been sustained, but upon the contrary have been absolutely disproved by the facts and testimony given.

General Government. Your committee further find that the government and discipline of the prison is of the very best; that Warden Hoyle is held in the highest esteem and confidence by the very large proportion of the prison population, and that he mingles freely and almost daily with the prisoners; that he is easily approachable by every prisoner desiring to converse with him; that he conducts himself at all times with extraordinary benevolence and kindness towards the prisoners; that he knows the personal history of all the inmates, and talks and counsels with them quite frequently, and that the prisoners have the utmost faith in him. If fault is to be found with Warden Hoyle at all regarding his treatment of prisoners, it is that he is altogether too merciful and kindhearted to maintain the best prison discipline, as many prisoners take advantage of his abundance of human sympathy, and use it oftentimes to the detriment of proper order and observance of prison rules.

Your committee find that about two years since Warden Hoyle entreated several men of great wealth in this State to assist him in reclaiming second and third termers when discharged. Warden Hoyle telling these men that, though the world said that there was no hope of regeneration for the so-called third termers, he firmly believed that, with a requisite amount of gentleness and real human sympathy, many of these old offenders, by the steady process of constant care and sympathetic attention, could be reclaimed. Your committee find that Warden Hoyle finally succeeded in interesting several philanthropic persons to put his idea into actual practice. Notably among these benevolent people were Mr. Pearson, of Los Angeles, who now has over one hundred of these old offenders out on parole, and that, according to his testimony, seventy per cent of them are making good. Warden Hoyle also interested others, who would and do furnish paroled and discharged prisoners with work and personal sympathy sufficient to get many of these unfortunates regenerated.

Your committee find from the evidence, therefore, that Warden Hoyle is now, and for the past two years has been, conducting the affairs and management of San Quentin prison along the most humane and just lines, and has never during that time been guilty of the slightest wrongdoing to any single prisoner there, nor has he ever countenanced or permitted any single act of cruelty or inhuman treatment or unlawful punishment to be administered to any inmate, and that he is on terms of friendship with a very large majority of the population of that institution.

Your committee further find that during the month of January, 1913, through the efforts and recommendation of Warden Hoyle, the board of prison directors have made such arrangements whereby the hated prison striped clothing is to be replaced by clothes made from ordinary cloth, using the striped clothing for the refractory and incorrigible prisoners, and that tooth brushes, towels, and soap are to be furnished each prisoner, and that sheets and pillowslips are also to be furnished, and a neat iron, white enameled bed is to take the place of the old makeshifts so long in use.

Your committee find that all the toilets and public bath places for men are open and exposed, and that such publicity is absolutely necessary in order to eradicate as much as possible that unprintable crime against nature.

Your committee called upon and talked freely with several of the most celebrated prisoners of San Quentin, inasmuch as there has been some testimony tending to show that J. B. McNamara has been cruelly and unduly punished by being confined in the dungeon, we find that three members of the committee—Messrs. Johnston, Farwell and Ellis—conversed privately with this celebrated prisoner, who disclosed that he was treated splendidly, and had not the slightest fault to find with any thing or matter connected with his confinement. He was solicited by the committee to appear as a witness and make any statement he desired as to any cruelties inflicted upon him or any others, or as to poor food or any other complaint he desired to make. His reply was, "As for myself I have not the slightest fault. I only request that you look into the case of a Mexican here with bad eyes. His work is in the jute mill, which only aggravates the weakness of his eyes." On your committee's promise to look into the case of this Mexican, McNamara warmly thanked the committee and again reiterated that he had no fault to find, and that his treatment by the prison officials was excellent. From these facts and other testimony your committee find that the said J. B. McNamara has not been cruelly or inhumanly punished or singled out for the vengeance of any prison officials at San Quentin.

The above conclusions and findings are reached and unanimously agreed to by your committee after the most careful sifting and weighing of all the testimony and facts produced. Of course there is great conflict in the evidence on most of the vital questions considered in this inquiry, and yet on the question of the personal conduct of Warden Hoyle in his personal treatment, care, attention and human sympathy towards the prisoners all are practically agreed that there is not the slightest fault in that direction, but upon the contrary almost universal praise and consideration is given him as an officer and man.

As to the official conduct of Captain Randolph, your committee finds from all the evidence, that absolute justice and equality of treatment of the prisoners, coupled with the demand for strict discipline, has been administered with neither harshness or studied kindness, but rather with exact fairness, tempered always with mercy and consideration.

The work of your committee has been arduous and at times vexatious and irritating, yet throughout the work the committee have endeavored to bring into this inquiry the very best efforts they possess, and have reached the only verdict that the facts in our opinion justify.

The transcript of the testimony taken at the inquiry is herewith transmitted with this report, and your committee trust that it will be preserved.

The expenses of your committee with vouchers for every cent disbursed is also herewith submitted.

The Case of Dr. E. E. Duncanson. We are willing to confess that from the first time we heard Dr. E. E. Duncanson's testimony, and some of us as early as last November, at the "open meeting" at the Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles, as well as on other and subsequent occasions, we were more or less prejudiced in his favor and against the administration of affairs at San Quentin.

Duncanson's own testimony, given in the office of the state clerk at San Quentin on Wednesday, March 26, 1913, began to undermine that prejudice, partially on account of some minor contradictions and partially on account of the testimony itself and the way it was given. Many affidavits were filed for and against the character and reputation of Dr. Duncanson. Without having the parties actually before us in order to look into their faces while testifying, it is hard to draw a proper conclusion one way or the other, therefore we deem it expedient to discard such affidavits, and we have based our conclusions entirely upon the testimony of Dr. Duncanson himself, and upon that of his own witness, Schaffino, as well as upon the testimony of his fellow prisoners and the record given of his case at the Lane Hospital in San Francisco. In our opinion, neither the two nor three hours of work per day nor the kind of work he did—for we witnessed the performance of the same task that he had to do in the jute mill, and we thought that it was neither a terrible nor a cruel task—in view of the testimony that William J. Danford gave us later on, it was not a serious matter at all. Danford testified that he asked for and obtained the hardest job in the jute mill solely for the purpose of getting the physical exercise that he so much desired, and, furthermore, and what is far more significant, for the sake of the special privilege that went with the job, which was, that, on account of the ardor of the task and the perspiration caused thereby, the man performing the task was allowed a bath at the end of each day's work. (See Transcript of April 5th on pages 59 and 60.) Danford thought enough of the task to crave it for the sake of the exercise of his muscles and the enjoyment of a daily bath. On the other hand, the only possible cruelty to Dr. Duncanson in our opinion would have been that in case Duncanson had stated his physical condition fully to the prison authorities at the time of his incarceration by explaining that earlier in his life he had had a fifteen or twenty foot fall (as per his testimony given before your committee, but forty feet as given to Dr. Wilbur, of Lane Hospital) from the top of a hayrick and landed in a sitting posture and that he "treated," or apparently cured, himself after three or four weeks' rest from his work, and that it had then been still further shown that he had been required by the prison authorities to perform the task that was sure to cause a return of his old troubles—then, and in such case only, would we have thought that the prison authorities were cruel and to blame for his condition. Such evidence was not so produced nor any testimony given to that effect.

We are satisfied that the "hose cure" (for passage of the bowels) was not an inhuman nor a cruel punishment at all, nor anything out of the ordinary practice of the San Quentin hospital nor the practice of any other properly managed or well regulated hospital. Duncanson has no cause to complain about being unfairly dealt with by the hospital physician. His special "liniment" was given him as he had prescribed for it and it was only when he asked for other unusual and stimulating drugs that a man of his age and condition should not have asked for, that he made his worst complaints.

The testimony of the hospital assistant, Mr. W. S. Hannah, satisfied us, even if we were to eliminate the testimony of Dr. Stone, that Dr. Duncanson in no wise received unusual or cruel treatment from the hospital department of the institution. We are prepared to believe that Duncanson was shamming when he performed an illy-timed fit of some sort in order to persuade Dr. Stone and the rest of the hospital attendants that he, Duncanson, needed special hospital treatment. (See page 45, March 27, of Dr. Stone's testimony.) Under such circumstances, and the unseemly hour, we would not have blamed any one, much less Dr. Stone, for having used abusive language. The testimony showed, however, from other convicts, (Harry Day, April 16th, top of page 57) that this was the customary habit of Dr. Stone, and that nearly all the time it was his way of "jollyng" a man along. One would have to understand the man and his mood at the time. This phase of his (Duncanson's) character could be still further illustrated by the testimony of Mr. W. S. Hannah, hospital assistant and a "twenty-five year man" (not subject to parole), who saw Duncanson race for the toilet one night to get ahead of a Mexican who had a cot in the hospital located nearer the toilet than was the cot of Dr. Duncanson. Duncanson thought no one was looking and forgot all about his physical condition, as well as his crutches, and reached the toilet before the Mexican. (Page 6, April 1, W. S. Hannah.) Mr. Hannah testified that Duncanson even looked about him to see if anyone else other than the Mexican was looking. As to the credibility of the witness Hannah, there was not the slightest doubt in our minds but what he, Hannah, was stating the truth without fear or favor. In fact, there was not a witness among any of the prisoners but what had a good word to say about W. S. Hannah. They stated that he was the most reliable and trustworthy of men as well as being the best known and best liked by the convicts. (Harry Day, April 16, pages 55 and 56.)

effect that he was shamming to avoid work and the fact that he was making a general nuisance of himself, we can pardon the doctor and others for the use of any "cuss" words. The crucial test in our opinion as to the reliability or credibility of Duncanson's testimony was when Duncanson, under oath, made decisive and positive statements (pages 31 to 36, inclusive, of March 26th session) that an Italian by the name of Schaffino, of the d'Abruzzi's North Pole expedition, made Duncanson a bribing proposition whereby Duncanson for a thousand dollars could get paroled; also for a dollar a day that he could obtain a special room, special food, heat and other considerations. Mr. E. I. Schaffino, the Italian referred to by Duncanson, when on the stand and under oath declared he never heard of such a thing, and that if it ever were mentioned, it was an original idea with Duncanson himself, and that Duncanson may have talked it so much that he, Duncanson, came to believe it, but that Schaffino never took any stock in the fabrication. For our part, we are more ready to believe Schaffino (whom Duncanson seemed inclined to depend upon more than any other witness) than we are Duncanson, and therefore, together with the statements of Dr. Stone and Mr. W. S. Hannah, we think that Duncanson's statements are not to be relied upon.

In fact, the testimony of Mr. A. Keyes (April 5th, page 14 to top part of page 20, inclusive), Deputy District Attorney of Los Angeles County, shows that under the peculiar conditions of the case, that had it been a ten-year instead of a life sentence, that he would not, in his judgment, have recommended the pardon; in other words, Dr. E. E. Duncanson can consider himself the luckiest man out of jail in securing the pardon that he finally did secure, and, as chief complainant against the institution, he might as least have been more thoughtful of the great expense he has piled up against the State, largely on account of his personal accusations and uncalled for agitation.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was sent to the desk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Schmitt:

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, FOREST SERVICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16, 1913.

Hon. Julius Kahn, House of Representatives.

DEAR MR. KAHN: Referring to my letter of April 9th, I am in receipt of a full report from the District Forester at San Francisco relative to the serious condition that exists among the stockmen in the region of Livermore and throughout the western portion of the San Joaquin Valley.

Immediately upon receipt of instructions from this office the District Forester took up with the various supervisors in his district the question as to how many of the stock could be taken care of on each forest in addition to the animals belonging to the regular users of the forest. From these reports I am informed that between eight and ten thousand head of cattle and twenty-five to thirty thousand head of sheep can be grazed without seriously injuring the range or interfering with the stock already using the forest ranges.

Naturally, the local users are inclined to object to the incoming of these foreign stock, which will, of course, somewhat crowd them on their ranges, and the District Forester anticipates some criticism from them. However, he has taken it up with the local stock associations wherever there are such organizations, and by placing it before them as an emergency act and intended to save their fellow stockmen from perhaps ruin, he hopes to overcome this feeling, or at least minimize it.

In order to get in closer touch with the interested stockmen the District Forester sent the acting Assistant District Forester in charge of grazing to Livermore to meet personally with the stockmen and learn from them the real status of affairs.

On April 6th he attended a meeting of the Stockmen's Protective Association, at Livermore, upon whose initiative the resolution passed by the California Assembly was introduced. The membership of this association consists of small stockmen belonging in that vicinity and in the western side of the San Joaquin Valley.

He reports that the serious conditions are due to the long continued dry weather, the shortage of hay in the region (the ordinary hay crop of the Livermore Valley being 30,000 tons, and last season it was but 8,000 tons), and the lack of water in wells, the failure of which has forced many of them to haul water for their stock long distances. All of the stockmen agreed that never before in the history of the stock business in that region had conditions been as bad as at present. Up to date few animals have died, the stockmen having so far fed hay and grain, but their feed and resources are almost exhausted and without some way of securing range the stock will either die or have to be shipped elsewhere for feed.

On account of the expense of shipping the stock to feed and the disarrangement of their business, none of the stockmen will ship to the forest ranges until they feel certain that rain can not help them, and, taking the region over, the District Forester believes the stockmen will be at the end of their resources about May 10th and that if by that time rain has not come they will have to ship out everything.

Taking the region as a whole it is estimated that there is about 25,000 head of cattle and 100,000 head of sheep which will have to be taken care of belonging to these small owners. There is also a large number belonging to the larger owners which will also have to be taken away for feed, but the District Forester believes the owners are able to handle them without help from the Forest Service.

Therefore, the assistance which the Forest Service can render in this case will be given to the small owners, the men whose homes and families depend almost wholly upon their live stock for a livelihood.

I regret that we are unable to take care of all the suffering stock, but the measure of aid which can be rendered will relieve the situation very materially and protect a portion of the owners from further losses.

Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) H. S. GRAVES, Forester.

THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23, 1913.

The Speaker of the Assembly, Sacramento, California:

We find it so difficult from this distance to understand fully the situation with regard to the sentiments and circumstances lying back of the pending proposition concerning the ownership of land in the State that I venture to inquire whether it would be agreeable to the Legislature to have the Secretary of State visit Sacramento for the purpose of counseling with the members of the Legislature and co-operating with them in the framing of a law which would meet the views of the people of the State and yet leave untouched the international obligations of the United States?

WOODROW WILSON.

RESOLUTION.

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Bohnett:

WHEREAS, The Speaker of the Assembly of the State of California has this day received from the President of the United States the following telegram:

"THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, D. C. April 23, 1913.

The Speaker of the Assembly, Sacramento, Cal.:

We find it so difficult from this distance to understand fully the situation with regard to the sentiments and circumstances lying back of the pending proposition concerning the ownership of land in the state that I venture to inquire whether it would be agreeable to the Legislature to have the Secretary of State visit Sacramento for the purpose of counseling with the members of the Legislature and co-operating with them in the framing of a law which would meet the views of the people of the state and yet leave untouched the international obligations of the United States.

WOODROW WILSON."

Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California. That while this Assembly respectfully maintains the right of the Legislature of the State of California to legislate on the subject of land ownership within the State, it will be entirely agreeable to this Assembly to have the Secretary of State of the United States visit Sacramento for the purposes indicated in the President's telegram; and be it further

Resolved, That in view of the probable early adjournment of the Legislature the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be, and he is hereby, instructed to transmit forthwith these resolutions by telegraph to the President.

During the consideration of the resolution, the following amendment was offered by Mr. Dower:

In line 20 of the resolution, strike out, after the word "that", the following: "while this Assembly respectfully maintains the right of the Legislature of the State of California to legislate on the subject of land ownership within the State."

Mr. Johnston moved the previous question.

A., Collins, Cram, Ellis, Emmons, Ferguson, Finnegan, Fish, Gabbert, Gates, Gelder, Green, Guiberson, Guill, Hayes, Hinkle, Inman, Johnson, Geo. H., Johnston, T. D., Johnstone, W. NOES—Messrs. Bagby, Beck, Bradford, Brown, Dower, Ford, Griffin, Killingsworth, McCarthy, Simpson, and Weldon—11.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

The following explanation of vote was sent to the desk, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Bradford:

I introduced an alien land bill (so-called) at the very early part of the session of this Legislature, because I deemed the enactment of such legislation very necessary. I believe now, as well as then, that California would be within her constitutional rights in enacting such a law. Under the circumstances, I thought that the proposed visit of the Secretary of State would not help us; on the other hand, I did not wish to put myself in the attitude of rejecting advice. I asked to be excused from voting, but this courtesy was denied me; consequently I was forced to vote "no" upon this resolution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 8.

Relative to the training and education of orphan children, and instructing the State Board of Education to investigate the training and education now received by orphan children and the feasibility of extending the public school system of the State to provide for their training and education, and to report thereon to the forty-first session of the Legislature of the State of California.

WHEREAS, The education of youth is a duty of the State, a recognized safeguard of its institutions and liberties, and the basis of a free government; and

WHEREAS, The public school system of this commonwealth, from the primary grades to the specialized courses in the universities, presents full opportunity to the children from the homes of its citizens, and the State has provided fitting institutions for the defective and imbecile young, and special courts, officers and reformatories have been established for the wayward juvenile offenders; and

WHEREAS, In all this elaborate system maintained at great cost by the taxpayers

no provision of any kind has been made for the training or education of orphan children, physically and mentally sound and potentially capable of becoming useful and able citizens; and

WHEREAS, These little ones, all innocently and hopelessly bereft of the affectionate care of parents, and whose only offense against society is their lack of such protection and aid, to secure for them the advantages of the educational system maintained by the State, are left to the well intentioned but inadequate efforts of promiscuous, unorganized charities barely supported by spasmodic appeals to a busy public; and

WHEREAS, Such children are at best thereby equipped only for the harder walks of life and are given no opportunity to develop the latent powers which beyond question are the heritage of many; and

WHEREAS, These conditions and the lack of educational facilities afforded orphan children are opposed to the principles of an enlightened and progressive government; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, That the State Board of Education be and it is hereby directed to investigate the conditions surrounding and affecting the orphan children of this State, the education and training which they now receive, and to investigate and consider measures and ways and means to provide for their care, education and training by the State, and to make its written report thereon, with recommendations regarding and looking to the extension of the public school system of this State to include the education of orphans, and ways and means therefor, to the forty-first session of the Legislature.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were filed, and ordered printed in the Journal:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, UNITED STATES,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18, 1913.

MR. L. B. MALLORY, Sacramento, Cal.

DEAR SIR: Enclosed please find letter sent by Mr. Graves concerning the live stock pasturage in forest reserves. I presume this will not be news to you as the matter must have been handled, at the California end.

Yours truly,

WILLIAM KENT.

(Dictated by Mr. Kent and signed in his absence.)

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, FOREST SERVICE,
WASHINGTON, April 16, 1913.

Hon. WILLIAM KENT, House of Representatives.

DEAR MR. KENT: Referring to my letter of April 9th, I am in receipt of a full report from the District Forester at San Francisco relative to the serious condition that exists among the stockmen in the region of Livermore and throughout the western portion of the San Joaquin Valley.

Immediately upon receipt of instructions from this office the District Forester took up with the various supervisors in his district the question as to how many of the stock could be taken care of on each forest in addition to the animals belonging to the regular users of the forest. From these reports I am informed that between eight and ten thousand head of cattle and twenty-five to thirty thousand head of sheep can be grazed without seriously injuring the range or interfering with the stock already using the forest ranges.

Naturally, the local users are inclined to object to the incoming of these foreign stock, which will, of course, somewhat crowd them on their ranges, and the District Forester anticipates some criticism from them. However, he has taken it up with the local stock associations wherever there are such organizations, and by placing it before them as an emergency act and intended to save their fellow stockmen from perhaps ruin he hopes to overcome this feeling, or at least minimize it.

In order to get into closer touch with the interested stockmen the District Forester sent the Acting Assistant District Forester in charge of grazing to Livermore to meet personally with the stockmen and learn from them the real status of affairs.

On April 6th he attended a meeting of the Stockmen's Protective Association at Livermore, upon whose initiative the resolutions passed by the California Assembly was introduced. The membership of this association consists of small stockmen belonging in that vicinity and in the western side of the San Joaquin Valley.

He reports that the serious conditions are due to the long-continued dry weather, the shortage of hay in the region (the ordinary hay crop of the Livermore Valley being 30,000 tons, and the last season it was but 8,000 tons), and the lack of water in wells, the failure of which has forced many of them to haul water for their stock long distances. All of the stockmen agreed that never before in the history of the stock business in that region had conditions been as bad as at present. Up to date few animals have died, the stockmen having so far fed hay and grain, but their feed and resources are almost exhausted, and without some way of securing range the stock will either die or have to be shipped elsewhere for feed.

On account of the expense of shipping the stock to feed and the disarrangement of their business, none of the stockmen will ship to the forest ranges until they feel certain that rain can not help them, and, taking the region over, the District Forester believes the stockmen will be at the end of their resources about May 10th, and that if by that time rain has not come they will have to ship out everything.

Taking the region as a whole, it is estimated that there is about 25,000 head of cattle and 100,000 head of sheep which will have to be taken care of belonging to these small owners. There is also a large number belonging to the larger owners which will also have to be taken away for feed, but the District Forester believes the owners are able to handle them without help from the Forest Service.

Therefore the assistance which the forest service can render in this case will be given to the small owners, the men whose homes and families depend almost wholly upon their live stock for a livelihood.

I regret that we are unable to take care of all the suffering stock, but the measure of aid which can be rendered will relieve the situation very materially and protect a portion of the owners from further losses.

Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) A. G. GRAVES, Forester.

UNITED STATES SENATE. April 12, 1913.

Hon. L. B. MALLORY, Chief Clerk, Assembly, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR: I inclose for the information of the members of the Legislature who are interested, a letter from the Secretary of Agriculture in relation to grazing stock on forest reserves, which is self-explanatory.

Yours truly,

GEO. C. PERKINS.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
WASHINGTON, April 9, 1913.

Hon. GEO. C. PERKINS, United States Senate.

DEAR SENATOR PERKINS: Your letter of April 7th is received.

On March 28th practically the same telegram which is referred to in your letter was received by me direct from the Chief Clerk of the California Legislature. Some days previous to that a resolution passed by the Stockmen's Protective Association at Livermore, California, reached me. This petition called my attention to the serious condition which confronted the stockmen in certain portions of California, especially in the San Joaquin Valley, and requested that, as far as possible, the various national forests be thrown open for the reception of as many of the animals as could be taken care of without injury to the forests or the permittees already using the ranges. The District Forester at San Francisco, who is in direct charge of all matters concerning the administration of the various national forests in the State of California, was at once wired to give the matter his attention and ascertain as early as possible the number of additional stock which could be provided with range within the national forests in that state. In response to this telegram the District Forester immediately called upon the various supervisors in his district for a detailed report as to the number of stock that could be taken care of on their forests, and as soon as this information is in his possession he will take such steps to relieve the situation as the conditions on the various forests will warrant.

This department will do everything within its power to assist the stock growers of your state in the present emergency and co-operate with them as fully as possible to that end. As soon as the District Forester has received this information and decided what can be done to take care of the suffering stock, he has been requested to inform this office, and the information will be immediately transmitted to you. Meantime I would suggest that the stockmen be advised to confer directly with the District Forester, which will save them considerable time in securing whatever aid he may be able to give them.

Very sincerely yours,

D. F. HOUSTON, Secretary.

MY DEAR MR. MALLORY: I have received the enclosed further communication from the Secretary of Agriculture bearing upon the question of allowing the grazing of stock upon the forest reserves.

It is evident that the department is giving very careful consideration to this matter and is desirous of rendering any help possible.

From these reports I am informed that between eight and ten thousand head of cattle and twenty-five to thirty thousand head of sheep can be grazed without seriously injuring the range or interfering with the stock already using the forest ranges.

Naturally, the local users are inclined to object to the incoming of these foreign stock, which will, of course, somewhat crowd them on their ranges, and the District Forester anticipates some criticism from them. However, he has taken it up with the local stock associations wherever there are such organizations, and by placing it before them as an emergency act and intended to save their fellow stockmen from perhaps ruin, he hopes to overcome this feeling, or at least minimize it.

In order to get into closer touch with the interested stockmen the District Forester sent the acting Assistant District Forester in charge of grazing to Livermore to meet personally with the stockmen and learn from them the real status of affairs.

On April 6th he attended a meeting of the Stockmen's Protective Association at Livermore, upon whose initiative the resolution passed by the California Assembly was introduced. The membership of this association consists of small stockmen belonging in that vicinity and in the western side of the San Joaquin Valley.

He reports that the serious conditions are due to the long-continued dry weather, the shortage of hay in the region (the ordinary hay crop of the Livermore Valley being 30,000 tons, and last season it was but 8,000 tons), and the lack of water in wells, the failure of which has forced many of them to haul water for their stock long distances. All of the stockmen agreed that never before in the history of the stock business in that region had conditions been as bad as at present. Up to date few animals have died, the stockmen having so far fed hay and grain, but their feed and resources are almost exhausted and without some way of securing range the stock will either die or have to be shipped elsewhere for feed.

On account of the expense of shipping the stock to feed and the disarrangement of their business, none of the stockmen will ship to the forest ranges until they feel certain that rain can not help them, and, taking the region over, the District Forester believes the stockmen will be at the end of their resources about May 10th, and that if by that time rain has not come, they will have to ship out everything.

Taking the region as a whole, it is estimated that there is about 25,000 head of cattle and 100,000 head of sheep which will have to be taken care of belonging to these small owners. There is also a large number belonging to the larger owners which will also have to be taken away for feed, but the District Forester believes the owners are able to handle them without help from the Forest Service.

Therefore, the assistance which the Forest Service can render in this case will be given to the small owners, the men whose homes and families depend almost wholly upon their live stock for a livelihood.

I regret that the Forester is unable to take care of all the suffering stock, but the measure of aid which can be rendered will relieve the situation very materially and protect a portion of the owners from further losses.

Very sincerely yours,

D. F. HOUSTON, Secretary.

On page 2, line 6, of the printed bill, after the period, insert:

SEC. 2. No minor under the age of eighteen years shall be employed or permitted to work between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and five o'clock in the morning.

SEC. 3. No minor between the ages of twelve and fifteen years shall be employed in any mercantile institution, office, laundry, manufacturing establishment, workshop, place of amusement, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages, unless said minor is supplied with a permit to work as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. The superintendent of schools of any city, or of any city and county, or of any county (over such portions of any such county as are not within the jurisdiction of any superintendent of city schools) shall have authority to issue a permit to work to any minor between the ages of twelve and fifteen years, in any of the following circumstances:

(1) Where such minor has completed the prescribed grammar school course, and is physically fitted for the labor contemplated; or

(2) Where upon the sworn statement being made by the parent, or foster-parent, or guardian, of such minor, that such minor is past the age of twelve years, that the parent or parents, or foster-parents, or guardian of such minor is incapacitated for labor through illness or injury, or that through the death or desertion of the father of such minor, the family is in need of the earnings of such minor, and that sufficient aid cannot be secured in any other manner. The person authorized to issue such permit shall make a signed statement in granting such permit that he, or a competent person designated by him for this purpose, has carefully investigated the conditions under which the application for such permit has been asked, and has found that in his judgment the earnings of such minor are necessary for such family to support such minor, and that in his judgment sufficient aid can not be secured in any other manner.

SEC. 5. No permit as specified in Section 4 of this Act shall be issued except upon written evidence that suitable work is waiting for such minor, and such permit shall specify the kind of labor. Permits issued under subdivision (2) of said Section 4 shall in no case be issued for a longer period than shall seem necessary, nor for longer than six months, at the end of which period such superintendent shall see that such minor returns to school, unless a new permit to labor is issued. Such permit shall be kept on file by the person, firm or corporation employing the minor therein designated, during the term of said employment, and shall be given up to such minor upon his quitting such employment. Where such minor works for himself and not for others, such minor shall keep in his possession such permit. Such permit shall be issued on forms in accordance with this Act, which shall be prepared and provided by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of California. Such permit shall be subject to revocation at any time by such commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, or by the authority issuing such permit, whenever such commissioner, or the authority issuing such permit shall find that the conditions for the legal issuance of such permit do not exist. Such permit shall be always open to the inspection of the attendance and probation officers, or of the officers of the state bureau of labor statistics. A duplicate copy of each permit to work granted under the provisions of this Act shall be kept by the person issuing such permit, such copy to be filed with the superintendent of schools of the city, or city and county, or county, as the case may be; provided, that all copies of permits issued between June 25th and December 25th of any year shall be filed not later than December 31st of each year; and those issued between December 25th and June 25th of the ensuing year shall be filed not later than June 30th of each year. Corresponding semi-annual reports of all such permits issued shall be made by such superintendents in such form as may be required by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of California.

SEC. 6. The attendance officer of any county, city and county, or school district in which any place of employment, in this Act named, is situated, or the probation officer of such county, shall have the right and authority, at all times to enter into any such place of employment for the purpose of investigating violations of the provisions of this Act, of violations of the provisions of an Act entitled "An Act to enforce the educational rights of children and providing penalties for the violation of the Act," approved March 24, 1903, and any Act amending or superseding the same; provided, however, that if such attendance or probation officer is denied entrance to such place of employment, any magistrate may, upon the filing of an affidavit by such attendance or probation officer setting forth the fact that he has a good cause to believe that the provisions of this Act, or the Act hereinbefore referred to, are being violated in such place of employment, issue an order directing such attendance or probation officer to enter said place of employment for the purpose of making such investigations; and provided, that any such minor over the age of twelve years may be employed at any of the occupations mentioned in this Act on the regular weekly school holidays, or during the regular vacation of the public schools of the city, county, or city and county, in which the place of employment is situated, upon the production of a permit signed by the principal, vice-principal of the school, or secretary of the board of school trustees or board of education of the school which such minor is attending, or has attended during the term next preceding any such vacation. Such permit shall contain the name and age of the minor to whom it is issued, and when issued for the regular vacation, the date of the termination of the vacation for which it is issued, and in any case shall be kept on file by the employer during the period of employment, and at the termination of such employment shall be returned to the minor to whom it was issued.

SEC. 7. No minor who is under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work at any gainful occupation during the hours that the public schools of the city, town or school district in which his place of employment is situated are in session, unless he or she has completed the prescribed grammar school course, or unless he or she is a regular attendant for the then current term at a regularly conducted night school; provided, however, that if the bodily or mental condition of said minor is such as to render inadvisable attendance at school or application to study, a certificate from any licensed physician that said minor should not attend school shall be sufficient excuse for such non-attendance.

SEC. 8. Every person, firm or corporation employing minors under eighteen years of age, in any manufacturing establishment, shall post and keep posted, in a conspicuous place in every room where such minors are employed, a written or printed notice stating the number of hours per day for each day of the week required of such minors.

SEC. 9. Every person, firm or corporation, agent or officer of a firm or corporation, employing or permitting minors under sixteen and over fifteen years of age to work in any mercantile institution, office, laundry, manufacturing establishment, workshop, place of amusement, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages, shall keep a record of the names, ages and places of residence of such minors, and shall have on file a certificate of age and schooling, as provided in this Act, for every such minor so employed, said record and certificate to be open at all times to the inspection of the school attendance and probation officers of the city and county, city, or county, in which the place of employment is situated, or of the officers of the state bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 10. An age and schooling certificate shall be approved only by the superintendent of schools of the city, or city and county, or by a person authorized by him in writing, or, where there is no city or city and county superintendent of schools, by a person authorized by the local school trustees; provided, that the superintendent or principal of any school of recognized standing shall have the right to approve an age and schooling certificate, and shall have the same rights and powers as the superintendent of public schools to issue the certificates herein provided for the children attending such schools. The person authorized to issue age and schooling certificates shall have the authority to administer the oaths necessary for carrying out the provisions of this Act, but no fees shall be charged for issuing such certificates.

An age and schooling certificate shall be issued only upon the written request of the prospective employer of such minor, which written request shall be filed by the person issuing the certificate.

An age and schooling certificate shall not be approved unless satisfactory evidence is furnished by the last school census, the certificate of birth or baptism of such minor, the public register of birth of such minor, or in some other manner, that such minor is of the age stated in such certificate. A duplicate copy of each age and schooling certificate granted under the provisions of this Act shall be kept by the person issuing such certificate such copy to be filed with the county superintendent of schools in the county where the certificate is issued; provided, that all such copies of certificates issued between June 25th and December 25th of any year shall be filed not later than December 31st of such year; and those issued between December 25th and June 25th of the ensuing year, shall be filed not later than June 30th of each year.

The county superintendent of schools of each county shall file with the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics a report showing the number of age and schooling certificates issued to male and female minors, and such other detailed information as the commissioner may require. Said report to be filed during the months of January and July of each year for the preceding six months, ending June 25th and December 25th of each year, and cover certificates issued during said periods and on file in the office of the county superintendent of schools as described in this section.

SEC. 11. Age and schooling certificates shall be issued on forms which shall be prepared and provided by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of California, and shall be substantially in the following form, to wit:

Age and schooling certificate.—This certifies that I am the (father, mother, or guardian) of (name of the minor) and that (he or she) was born at (name of the city or town), in the county of (name of county, if known), and state (or country) of (name) on the day (day and year of birth), and is now (number of years and of months) old.

I hereby approve the foregoing certificate of (name of minor), height (feet and inches), complexion (fair or dark), hair (color), having no sufficient reason to doubt that (he or she) is of the age therein certified, and I hereby certify that (he or she) (has or has not) completed the prescribed grammar school course.

Every person authorized to sign the certificate prescribed by this Act, who knowingly certifies to any false statement therein, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 12. No minor having a permit to work, as described in Sections 3, 4 and 5 of this Act, and no minor having an age and schooling certificate, as described in Sections 9, 10 and 11 of this Act, and no other minor under sixteen years of age, who would by law be required to attend school, shall, while the public schools are in session, be and remain idle and unemployed for a period longer than two weeks but must enroll and attend school: provided, that within one week after any minor having such a permit to work or such age and schooling certificate shall have ceased to be employed by any employer, such employer shall, in writing, giving the latest correct address of such minor known to such employer, notify the county superintendent of schools of such county, that such minor is no longer employed by such employer; and such county superintendent of schools shall thereupon immediately notify the attendance officer having jurisdiction in the place of such minor's residence, giving the said latest known correct address of such minor, that such minor is neither at work nor in school; and provided, further, that no such minor shall be permitted to cease school attendance without securing a permit to work, or an age and schooling certificate, as provided in this Act.

SEC. 13. Any person, firm, corporation, agent, or officer of a firm or corporation that violates or omits to comply with any of the foregoing provisions of this Act, or that employs or suffers or permits any minor to be employed in violation thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every offense. A failure to produce any age and schooling certificate or permit to work or to post any notice required by this Act, shall be prima facie evidence of the illegal employment of any minor whose age and schooling certificate or permit to work is not produced, or whose name is not so posted. Any fine collected under the provisions of this Act shall be paid into the school funds of the county, or city, or city and county in which the offense occurred; except such fines imposed and collected as the result of prosecutions by the officers of the bureau of labor statistics. In such cases one half of the resultant fine or fines shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the contingent fund of the bureau of labor statistics, and one half paid into the school fund of the county, or city, or city and county in which the offense occurred.

SEC. 14. For the purpose of this Act, horticultural shall be understood to include the curing and drying, but not the canning, of all varieties of fruit. Nor shall anything in this Act be construed to prohibit any minor between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years, who is by any statute or statutes of the State of California, now or hereafter in force, permitted to be employed as an actor, or actress, or performer in a theater, or other place of amusement, previous to the hour of ten o'clock p.m., in the presentation of a performance, play or drama, continuing from an earlier hour till after the hour of ten o'clock p.m., from performing his or her part in such presentation as such employee between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock p.m.; provided, the written consent of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics is first obtained. Nor shall anything in this Act prevent, or be construed to prohibit, the employment of any minor, whether resident or non-resident, in the presentation of a drama or dramatic play with the written consent of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics; but no such consent shall be given unless the officer giving it is satisfied that the environment in which the drama or dramatic play is to be produced is a proper environment for the minor, and that the conditions of such employment are not detrimental to the health of such minor, and that the minor's education will not be neglected or hampered by its participation in such drama or dramatic play, and every such written consent shall specify the name and age of the minor, together with such other facts as may be necessary for the proper identification of such minor, and the dates when, and the theaters or other places of amusement in which, such dramas or dramatic plays are to be produced, and shall specify the dramas or dramatic plays in which the minor is permitted to participate, and every such consent shall be revocable at the will of the officer giving it.

SEC. 15. The bureau of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this Act. The commissioner, his deputies and agents, shall have all the powers and authority of sheriffs or other peace officers to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this Act, and to serve any process or notice throughout the state.

Providing for the construction and maintenance by the state of state aid highways in counties and towns.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The board of supervisors of any county; or the governing body of any town may on a not less than four-fifths vote of such board or governing body, petition the state department of engineering, hereinafter in this Act called department, upon forms prepared by said department, or under its direction to have any main public highway in the said county, or town improved and maintained under the provisions of this Act. Such petition shall contain a detailed description of the highway petitioned to be improved, a statement as to whether or not the rights of way for the said highway have been secured by the public; a statement of the kind of construction work with which it is sought to have the highway improved, and such other information and data as the department may prescribe.

SEC. 2. Upon receipt of such a petition the department shall give careful consideration to the matters contained therein, and may authorize the body filing the petition to file an amended or modified petition conforming to such regulations and conditions as in the discretion of the department may be deemed just and proper.

If said department determine that public necessity and convenience require that such highway should be laid out and be taken charge of by the state, it shall cause the engineer or surveyor of the county in which the road to be improved is located to make adequate surveys, plans, specifications and estimates thereof subject to the approval and acceptance of the department. Upon approval by the department, a copy of the petition, resolution or undertaking, plans, specifications and estimate shall be filed with the department and also in the office of the recorder of the county in which the highway is situated and thereafter it shall be a state highway, and shall be constructed and kept in good repair as the department shall direct, under the supervision of the engineer or surveyor of the said county, the expense for construction and repair of same to be proportioned and paid as hereafter provided. Such highways shall be known as state aid highways.

SEC. 3. The department shall not grant the prayer of any petition for the improvement of a highway under the provisions of this Act unless all necessary bridges and culverts shall have first been constructed by the county, or town in which the highway is situated, in a manner satisfactory to the department, nor unless all necessary rights of way have been secured by the public. All expenditures under the provisions of this Act shall be distributed equitably throughout the state.

SEC. 4. When the department is prepared for construction it shall so notify the governing body of the town or county in which the highway is located and furnish them a verified copy of the approved plans and specifications and the said governing body shall proceed to advertise for bids and let the contract for construction in the manner provided for by the statutes for advertising and letting contracts for work on public highways by counties.

Should the bids for constructing the highways exceed the figure mutually agreed upon between the department and the county engineer as a reasonable compensation for the work the bids shall be rejected and the work be done as the department shall direct. In either case the county surveyor shall represent the department in the supervision of the construction. Whenever the department deems it necessary, it may appoint an inspector.

SEC. 5. Payment for the work shall be made by the local governing body in the manner provided by law for the payments of claims against the county or city for work of this class, on presentation of bills verified by the supervising engineer and approved by the department. The cost of construction shall include therein the cost of the surveys, drafting, engineering, inspection and other necessary expenses as well as the cost of the actual work of construction. Two thirds of the cost of construction as shown by the bills approved by the department and paid by the city or county shall be paid by the city or county in which the highway is located and one third by the state. The cost of maintenance thereafter shall be equally divided between the state and the county, the work to be done as the department shall direct under the supervision of the county engineer. All bids for maintenance shall be approved and paid in the same manner as the cost of construction.

On the tenth of each month following the month in which work of any kind has been done, or expenses of any sort have been incurred in connection with the construction or maintenance of a state aid highway, the treasurer of the city or county where the highway is situated shall present to the department a verified statement of the amounts paid for work performed during the previous month and a demand for a payment of the amount due from the state. Upon verification and approval of this demand the state treasurer shall forward the amount to the city or county treasurer. The amount to be paid by a county may be paid out of the proceeds of a bond issue, the general fund, the general road district fund or out of the district funds of the road district in which the said highway is located.

The proportion of expense borne by the state shall be paid out of any fund now available, or which may hereafter be made available for the purpose, or out of special appropriations for the purpose made by the legislature.

Moneys shall be paid by the state treasurer upon warrants duly drawn by the controller of the state, upon demands made by the department and audited by the state board of control.

SEC. 6. All of the provisions of law relating to state highways and to the department shall apply so far as they are applicable to all work done and to all methods employed under this Act.

SEC. 7. This Act shall be known and cited as the "State Aid Highway Act."

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

On motion of Mr. Ryan, the following speech of Mr. Gelder, on Assembly Bill No. 1629, was ordered printed in the Journal.

In 1910 the Congress of the United States, upon the request of the Governor of Pennsylvania, appointed a commission to take into consideration the matter of a joint celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, by the men who fought in that battle. Every state in the Union was represented on that commission, and where it was possible the commission was made up of Union and Confederate veterans who took part in that great battle. The commission met as the guests of the State of Pennsylvania during the summer of 1910 at Gettysburg.

A plan of celebration was agreed upon between the Union and Confederate veterans which was to be in the nature of a great peace jubilee to be held in the year 1913, the fiftieth anniversary of the battle.

The committee representing Congress reported back to their respective houses. Their report was accepted and an appropriation of $100,000 was provided, and the management of the celebration placed in the hands of the War Department.

The Government provides for the free accommodation of all veterans of both armies during the celebration, which commences on the first day of July and closes on the fourth, this year, 1913.

The celebration is open to all veterans of both armies, whether they fought in that battle or not. All who go will be cared for by the War Department. The Government does not provide transportation, but leaves that matter to be cared for by the several states.

Up to this time nearly every state in the Union has made appropriation of from $5,000 up to $400,000 for transportation purposes.

The State of New York has arranged for the transportation of 10,000 veterans to Gettysburg.

It is only possible to provide for the transportation of a limited number from California, and must be confined to those only who were engaged in that battle, numbering probably from 250 to 300. The Department of California Grand Army of the Republic is now making an enrollment of both Union and Confederate veterans who were engaged at Gettysburg, to establish the record of each man making application for transportation.

July 4th, the last day of the peace jubilee, will be known as "National day," and will be presided over by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and the President, Vice President, the Cabinet, the Justices of the Supreme Court, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the congressional committee will be the guests of honor.

At ten o'clock a.m. a great mass meeting will be held at the rostrum on the battlefield, at which prayer will be offered. An oration will be delivered by the President of the United States, the son of a Confederate veteran.

At noon the cornerstone of the peace memorial monument will be laid by the President. This act will conclude the official program.

Leading up to the battle of Gettysburg, the Union army had suffered a number of crushing defeats. On the 13th of December, 1862, General Lee defeated General Burnside at Fredericksburg with a loss to the Union army of 12,600. Then followed the battle of Chancellorsville on May 2, 1863, between General Hooker (who had superseded Burnside after the battle of Fredericksburg) and General Lee, commander of the army of Northern Virginia. The latter battle proved another defeat for the Union cause, the loss being 17,000 men.

Shortly after the battle of Chancellorsville, General Lee called a council of his generals and placed before them a plan of campaign into Pennsylvania. The general took the position that in order to bring the North to time a decisive battle would have to be fought, and that battle would have to be fought on Northern soil. Lee believed that after the many victories in Virginia that his army was invincible and that he would be successful. He firmly believed that this battle would force the North to terms, and at the same time gain for the Confederacy the recognition of England and France.

About the middle of June, 1863, Lee commenced his march into the North with a well-seasoned, well-equipped army of veterans, greater in number and fighting quality than any troops previously connected with the army of Northern Virginia.

About June 15th to 17th, General Lee crossed the Potomac into Maryland with about 75,000 men-of-all-arms.

On the morning of July 1st, the advance of both armies met near Seminary Ridge, on the west of Gettysburg. The battle raged all day, and did not close until the Union forces were battered to pieces and driven in confusion through the streets of the city toward the cemetery on the south side of Gettysburg.

During the day General Hancock arrived on the battleground under instructions from General Meade to select a battlefield. At the close of the first day's engagement General Lee's army was up and ready for action, while Meade's army at that time was very much scattered, but rapidly concentrating toward Gettysburg.

During the night of the first and the morning of the second of July the most of the Union army, with the exception of the Fifth Army Corps, had arrived, and were placed in position as rapidly as possible.

On the afternoon of the second both armies were ready for action. General Longstreet, who commanded Lee's extreme right, opened the ball in front of Round Top, on Meade's extreme left, which was commanded by General Sickles.

The battle between Sickles and Longstreet opened at the wheat field about a mile west of Round Top, or rather Devil's Den, and continued until night forced the close of hostilities for the day. During this engagement General Sickles fell seriously wounded. The day closed with the defeat of the Union's left, and a loss of about ten thousand men killed, wounded and missing. Our right had met with some success, but not of sufficient importance to overcome our severe loss of July 1st and 2d.

The final clash of steel was yet to come. Both armies slept on their arms on the night of the second, preparatory to the final issue, which must come soon, and which must forever decide the cause of the Union.

All through the morning of the third both armies strengthened their respective positions for the final assault, which seemed at best only a few hours away. Between 10 and 11 o'clock a.m. the Confederate chief of artillery planted 150 cannon for two miles along Seminary Ridge, preparatory to the final assault. During this lull in the impending storm which was soon to burst with all the fury of hell, General Hunt, chief of artillery for the Union army, was busily engaged in bringing up his reserve artillery and planting cannon on every available spot where a gun could be placed on Cemetery Ridge. At 1 o'clock the signal gun was fired by the Confederates, and in less than three seconds 150 pieces of artillery opened on the Union position. It seemed but a moment of time when every gun on the Union side which could be brought into action belched forth in reply to Lee's artillery duel. The air seemed full of missiles from every direction. Whole batteries, horses and men were wiped out of existence in a moment's time. Nothing like it had ever been witnessed on earth since the invention of gunpowder or firearms. This blazing volcano of destruction and death lasted for nearly two hours. At its close, General Pickett was given the command to charge on the Union line. Eighteen thousand men rose as one man and pushed forward to the assault. Pickett had to march 1400 yards before he reached Meade's line of battle. In the meantime the Union cannon were cutting wide swaths through his marching columns. At last they met in one titanic crash—Union and Confederate clubbing each other with the butts of their muskets, using every means within reach to destroy human life. For fifteen minutes the life of the Union hangs in the balance. If General Lee breaks and crushes Meade's center nothing can save the Union army from rout and almost annihilation. Seconds seem hours. Maddened men are butchering each other as if human life was of no value. Meade rushes every man that can be found into the breach. The tide turns; Pickett is defeated and driven back. Only one man out of every four who followed Pickett's colors ever returned with their leader. Of all the field officers who went into that charge with General Pickett only one returned.

Thus closed the battle of Gettysburg. Lee returned to Virginia. The spirit of the Confederacy was broken. The battle of Gettysburg was its death blow. No battle of the modern world was ever fought with such intensity or determination on the part of both armies as was this battle. It was American against American. Yes, the ties were even closer—it was brother against brother, schoolmate against schoolmate, comrades at arms against each other—the one fighting to preserve the government at Washington, the other to destroy it.

The combined loss in this battle was about 55,000 men out of the 160,000 engaged.

The living remnants of those two great armies, the one that followed Meade, the other Lee, will meet on the fiftieth anniversary of that battle at Gettysburg in a great peace jubilee, and there dedicate a memorial to peace which we hope and trust will cement this nation in ties of friendship and common interest which we know and believe never can be broken—no, not even in the unmeasured ages to come.

In this connection, it may be well to say that of all the great commanders who fought in the battle of Gettysburg, General Sickles is the only one living.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 23.

Relative to the establishment of a government-owned line of steamships to operate between Pacific and Atlantic ports.

WHEREAS, The shippers of the Pacific coast were for many years at the mercy of the transcontinental railroads in the matter of rates charged upon shipments to and from the Atlantic seaboard and eastern states; and

WHEREAS, These transcontinental railroads have attempted and now are attempting to secure an absolute monopoly of transportation facilities by destroying independent water competition via the Isthmus of Panama and by controlling existing lines of steamships; and

WHEREAS, This monopoly is now threatening to become absolute through the destruction of the California-Atlantic Steamship Company which was controlled by Henry Sears Bates and Arthur Sewall Chesebrough, worthy descendants of illustrious California pioneers; and

WHEREAS, It is vital to the commercial life of the Pacific coast and to the nation as a whole that competition be maintained against the transcontinental railroads and their steamship lines and that that competition be strong enough to withstand the ruthless tactics of organized wealth; and

WHEREAS, The construction of the great Panama Canal will be a menace instead of a benefit to the people of the United States if the transcontinental railroads are allowed to maintain a monopoly of water competition; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate and Assembly of the State of California jointly express their approval of a government-owned and operated line of steamships to operate between Pacific and Atlantic ports via Panama; and be it further

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 16.

Relative to the appointment of a committee of the Legislature, to consist of three Senators and three Assemblymen, which committee shall have power to appoint an advisory committee of architects, sculptors and painters to constitute a commission with a view of reporting to the Governor ways and means of improving the standard of architecture, sculpture and painting in the furnishing, decoration, repair and construction of all state, county, school and municipal buildings, grounds and public works throughout this State.

WHEREAS, The State and various counties, municipalities and school districts thereof have from time to time expended large sums of public moneys for the furnishing, decorating, repairing and construction of various public buildings, structures, works and grounds; and

WHEREAS, Said expenditures have in the past been made without reference to maintaining a definite high standard of architecture, sculpture and painting; and

WHEREAS, The results obtained for such expenditures in many instances, from lack of proper advice or complete investigation, are inadequately planned and much below what the people of this civilized State are entitled to receive; and

WHEREAS, The State of California, with its rich heritage of climate and all-inspiring scenery is pregnant with an art that should rival ancient Greece and Italy; and

WHEREAS, The citizens of this State by their labor and industry, and by the early establishment of an unequaled educational system, have advanced to a culture which decries the unprofitable and unsightly perpetuation of the makeshifts and temporary and hasty structures which in pioneer times were necessary; and

WHEREAS, The citizens of this State are entitled to the development of standards of architecture, sculpture and painting equal to, if not better than those existing in the eastern and middle western sections of these United States; and

WHEREAS, The State of Illinois, the city of New York and other states and municipalities have by the establishment of art commissions and other regulating bodies definitely taken steps to elevate and maintain such standards of architecture, sculpture and painting; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly concurring. That a committee of three Senators and three members of the Assembly be appointed by the President pro tem. of the Senate and by the Speaker of the Assembly, which committee shall have power and it shall be its duty to appoint as advisory members thereof, three architects, a painter, a sculptor, and a lawyer, all of whom are known for their desire to improve standard of architecture, sculpture and painting, which committee shall constitute a commission to investigate and report to the Governor, ways and means of improving and elevating throughout this State the standard of architecture, sculpture and painting on all state, county, school districts and municipal buildings, grounds and public works; and the furnishing, decorating and embellishment thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That said report together with the recommendations of said commission shall be filed with the Governor at least forty days prior to the convening of the forty-second session of the California State Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the investigations and report of said commission shall be conducted and made without expense to the State.

By Mr. Palmer:

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the Congress of the United States House of Representatives Bill No. 28825, introduced by Hon. John E. Raker, of the First Congressional District of California, having for its purpose the restoration to the public domain certain lands heretofore reserved for reservoir purposes in Big Valley in Lassen and Modoc counties and in Round and Pitt River valleys in Modoc County, California; and

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the Senate of the State of California Senate Joint Resolution No. 29, approving of the purpose of said House of Representatives Bill No. 28825; and

WHEREAS, The lands now being reserved for reservoir purposes in said Big Valley, Round Valley and Pitt River Valley were placed in such reservation only after extensive surveys and investigations made by the United States Government, and after it had been definitely and conclusively established that these lands would be utilized in the construction of immense reservoirs for collecting and retaining the flood waters of winter, thereby greatly benefiting several hundred thousands of acres of rich agricultural land in the Sacramento Valley that is subject to overflow, besides making the waters so retained available for irrigation during the summer months; and

WHEREAS, The carrying out of this project is a question of national and state importance and will be of great and lasting benefit; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Sacramento Valley Development Association, representing thirteen counties of the Sacramento Valley, in regular meeting assembled this nineteenth day of April, 1913, after having heard the arguments presented by the advocates of said House of Representatives bill No. 28825 and Senate Joint Resolution No. 29, believing that the plans and intentions of the Federal Government relating to this undertaking should not now be changed, does most emphatically protest against the passage of said bill No. 28825 and Senate Joint Resolution No. 29 and calls upon the California delegation in Congress and representatives in the State Legislature to oppose these measures; and be it further

Resolved, That the secretary is hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to each member of the California delegation in Congress, to Governor Hiram W. Johnson, and all members of the California Legislature.

I certify that this is a true and correct copy of a resolution adopted at the regular monthly meeting of the Sacramento Valley Development Association, held in Sacramento, April 19, 1913.

A. H. MILLER, Secretary.

By Mr. Speaker:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., April 24, 1913.

Chester H. Rowell, member Panama-Pacific Exposition Commission, of the State of California, care Governor Johnson, Sacramento:

Panama-Pacific International Exposition Board of Directors have unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

At a regular meeting of the board of directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition held Wednesday, April twenty-third, nineteen hundred thirteen, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The State of California, at its urgent solicitation, was selected by the Congress of the United States through the medium of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to act, in behalf of the government, as the host for the people of the United States to all peoples who may so desire to join with the United States in celebrating the opening of the Panama Canal by participating in the universal exposition of nineteen fifteen; and

WHEREAS, In pursuance of this Act of Congress so passed at the urgent request of the State of California and its Legislature, the President of the United States invited all nations and all peoples without regard to race, creed, political system or social development to take part in the celebration of the opening of the great international highway; and

WHEREAS, In accepting this trust at the hands of the people and government of the United States and in special behalf of the State of California, the Exposition has been seriously requested and has solemnly agreed to provide every facility and to offer every encouragement that physical preparation can afford or the broadest spirit of universal fellowship suggest, and has intended and still intends so to do in a manner responsive to the invitation of the United States and to the sentiment of universal brotherhood that this celebration is intended to promote; and

WHEREAS, Any action upon the part of the people of California through its Legislature or otherwise, calculated to lessen the interest of all nations and peoples in the success of this celebration, will negative and nullify the implied and expressed covenants of the State of California; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the board of directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, that any action on the part of the Legislature of California that shall be regarded by any foreign country or government as offensive to their pride as a people or their honor as a nation, must and will challenge the good faith of the commonwealth of California.

Resolved, That it is the deliberate and unqualified conviction of this board that by accepting this great trust for the nation, rendered of deep international dignity and import by the request of the American government, to all nations and all people without exception, to share with our nation the gratification and pride all patriotic Americans feel in the tremendous gift of the Panama Canal to the world, with its immeasurable commercial and civilizing advantages, the State of California unquestionably pledged to all participants equal opportunity and courtesy and indiscriminating welcome and hospitality.

Resolved, further, That we, as a board of directors, deeply impressed with the responsibility we have assumed on behalf of the State of California, emphatically protest against the passage of any measures in the Legislature of the State that are in any wise contrary to the spirit of the obligation incurred by this State at the time it assumed the responsibility conferred upon it by Act of Congress.

Resolved, further, That the President of this Exposition be authorized and instructed to sign and the secretary of the company to place the seal of the corporation upon these resolutions, and to suitably engross and copy the same and transmit them to each house of the Legislature of the State of California, with the request that they be printed in the Journal thereof; and such other bodies or persons as in the opinion of the President it shall be deemed advisable to do, thereby confirming similar previous acts by this board and the representations of committees of this board before the Legislature at Sacramento, as well as official statements previously given to the press and public.

Please transmit above to Governor Johnson, also to both houses of Legislature, informing them that engrossed and signed copies will follow.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were filed, and ordered printed in the Journal:

DISTRICT (G) SUPERVISION,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., April 24, 1913.

MR. L. B. MALLORY, Chief Clerk, California Legislature, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of April 21st is received.

Immediately upon receipt of the information contained in the joint resolution of the State Legislature, I endeavored to get into personal touch with the stockmen who were seriously affected by the prolonged drought in certain parts of the State to ascertain just what relief could be granted by the Forest Service.

It was quite evident from the beginning that little relief could be afforded without overstocking the already fully stocked ranges on the forests, which would interfere with the privileges of permittees who live within and adjacent to the forests, unless additional range could be provided.

After a very careful canvass of all the forests and the opening of the range on the summit of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, which have not heretofore been grazed, I find that range sufficient to carry approximately 8,000 head of cattle and horses and 39,000 head of sheep can be provided.

It is realized that the number is small in comparison to the number actually in need of range, but it is felt that it will relieve the situation very materially and provide range for the greater number of stock owned by small resident stockmen whose homes and families depend almost wholly upon their live stock for a livelihood.

In order that stockmen may have an opportunity of submitting their applications and receiving information with respect to the ranges available, I have detailed a member of this office to visit towns throughout the area affected between April 26th and 30th. For your information, I am enclosing a copy of a notice which I have sent all stockmen of whom we have a record, and I suggest you inform those making inquiries as to method of securing these privileges, that they should endeavor to meet the representative of the Forest Service at one or the other of the places mentioned in the notice.

As soon as all the applications are received, prompt action will be taken and the stockmen informed. Any assistance you may be able to render in circulating this information among the stockmen will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

ROY HEADLEY, Acting District Forester.

DISTRICT (G) SUPERVISION,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., April 23, 1913.

DEAR SIR: You are hereby advised that a representative of the Forest Service will be at the following places on the dates set forth:

Stockton, April 27th.

Fresno, April 28th.

Hanford, April 29th.

Bakersfield, April 30th.

He will be prepared to accept and take the necessary action on applications for grazing permits on the National Forests. If you have not already submitted your application, I suggest that you endeavor to meet him at one or the other of the places mentioned.

Very truly yours,

ROY HEADLEY, Acting District Forester.

(4) All donations, legacies, gifts and bequests which shall be made to such fund, and all moneys which shall be obtained or contributed for the same purposes from other sources;

(5) Appropriations made by the state legislature from time to time to carry into effect the purposes of this Act.

SEC. 2. The public school teachers' retirement salary fund shall be made up of such moneys as shall be transferred from time to time under authority of this Act from the public school teachers' permanent fund.

(3) To require the boards of education, school trustees and other public authorities, and all officers having duties to perform in respect to the contributions by teachers to said permanent fund, to report to the board from time to time as to such matters pertaining to the payment of such contributions, as it may deem advisable;

(4) To invest the moneys in the permanent fund in securities and to collect the income therefrom and interest and dividends thereon; to deposit such securities with the state treasurer, and to make sale of such securities when, in its judgment such sale will be advisable; provided, that none of the moneys in the public school teachers' permanent fund shall be invested in any securities except such securities as those in which the funds of savings banks may be legally invested. The state controller is authorized to draw his warrant upon the public school teachers' permanent fund in payment of duly audited claims arising out of the investment of the moneys in said fund;

(5) To prescribe the duties of the secretary and other officers of the board;

(6) To conduct investigations in all matters relating to the operation of this Act, and to subpoena witnesses and compel their attendance to testify before it in respect to such matters.

Said public school teachers' retirement salary fund board shall meet at least once every three months and at each quarterly meeting shall make a list of all persons entitled to payment out of the fund established by this Act, and enter said list in a book to be kept by the board for that purpose, to be known as the "Public School Teachers' Retirement Salary Fund Record." Said list shall be certified as correct by the president and secretary of the board, and shall always be open to public inspection. In the performance of the duties of the board, each member and the secretary thereof may administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses and others transacting business with the board.

5. Regulate the duties of boards of education, school trustees and other school authorities, imposed upon them by this Act, in respect to the contributions by teachers to the public school teachers' permanent fund, and the deduction of such contributions from the teachers' salaries.

SEC. 11. In addition to the powers hereinabove enumerated, said board shall make and enforce all necessary and proper rules and regulations for the method or methods of applying for and obtaining retirement salaries provided for in this Act and for the method or methods of determining the right of each applicant to such retirement salary; provided, however, that in all cases legal proof of all necessary facts shall be required and kept on file.

SEC. 12. The superintendent of public schools of each city, county, and consolidated city and county shall report to the superintendent of public instruction, before the fifteenth day of July of each year, the amount that will be required during the current fiscal year to pay the retirement salaries to be paid in such city, county, or consolidated city and county, and said superintendent of public instruction shall determine from said reports the entire amount required to pay said retirement salaries during said current fiscal year. He shall report the amount required to make such payments to the public school teachers' retirement salary fund board, and thereupon said board shall notify the state controller and by resolution, duly adopted, shall direct him to make transfer of the needed amount from the public school teachers' permanent fund to the public school teachers' retirement salary fund. It shall be the duty of the state controller thereupon to make such transfer and to notify the state treasurer in order that he may make corresponding entry in the records of his office. When claims for payment of retirement salaries have been duly audited under the provisions of this Act the controller shall draw his warrant therefor upon the said public school teachers' retirement salary fund.

SEC. 13. Every public school teacher who shall have complied with all the requirements of this Act, and who shall have served, as a legally qualified teacher in public day or evening schools, or partly as such teacher and partly as superintendent or supervising executive or educational administrator, for at least thirty school years, at least fifteen of which shall have been in the public schools of this state, including the last ten years of service immediately preceding retirement, under a legal certificate shall be entitled to retire; or if physically or mentally incapacitated for the proper performance of the duties of teacher, may be compelled to retire by the board of education, school trustees or other school authorities employing such teacher. Upon retirement, voluntary or involuntary, such teacher shall be entitled to receive, during life, an annual retirement salary of five hundred dollars, payable in installments quarterly by warrant drawn as provided in section eight of this Act; provided, that application for such salary be made within two years after the last month of service, except in cases where at the time the right to the retirement salary accrues such teacher has been absent two years or more from service, on leave duly granted by the board of education, board of trustees or other public school authorities employing such teacher. In such cases, the application may be made at any time during the said leave of absence. All teachers heretofore retired after thirty years of service, under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature of the State of California approved March 26, 1895, entitled "An Act to create and administer a public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund in the several counties and cities and counties in the state," and Acts amendatory thereof, shall be entitled to an annual retirement salary of five hundred dollars, payable in installments quarterly by warrants drawn as provided in section eight of this Act.

SEC. 14. Any public school teacher who shall have complied with all the requirements of this Act and who shall have served as a legally qualified teacher for at least fifteen years in the public schools of this state, and who shall have, by reason of bodily or mental infirmity, become physically or mentally incapacitated for further school service, under a legal certificate, shall be entitled to retire, or may, by the board of education, school trustees or other school authorities employing such teacher, be compelled to retire. Upon retirement, voluntary or involuntary, such teacher shall be entitled to receive during the period of such disability, an annual retirement salary payable in installments quarterly, which shall be the same fraction of the maximum retirement salary of five hundred dollars as said teachers' time of service is of thirty years; provided, that application for such retirement salary shall be made within two years of the last month of service. Each teacher who, by reason of incapacity due to bodily or mental infirmity, shall have retired under the aforesaid Act, approved March 26, 1895, and Acts amendatory thereof, after fifteen years' service, shall receive upon the taking effect of this Act and during the period of disability, an annual retirement salary which shall be the same fraction of the maximum retirement salary of five hundred dollars, as said teachers' time of service is of thirty years.

SEC. 15. Service of a teacher, with or without a certificate, in a state normal school, shall be equivalent to service under legal certificate in a day or evening school, and the time of said service in a state normal school shall be reckoned in determining the right to retirement salaries under the provisions of sections thirteen and fourteen of this Act.

SEC. 16. In counting actual experience for the purposes of this Act, the state board of education shall determine what constitutes a school year; provided, that in no case shall leaves of absence amounting to school years, or half school years be counted as service; and provided, further, that in reckoning the time of service for the purposes of this Act, the night school term shall be considered the same as and equivalent to the day school term.

SEC. 17. This Act shall be binding upon all such teachers employed in the public schools of this state at the time of the approval of this Act, as shall, on or before January 1, 1914, sign and deliver to the superintendent of public instruction and the superintendent of public schools of the city, county, or consolidated city and county in which said teachers are in service, a notification that said teachers agree to be bound by and to avail themselves of the benefits of this Act.

SEC. 18. This Act shall be binding upon all teachers elected or appointed to teach in the public schools of this State after the approval of this Act, who, not being in the service of the public schools at the time of the approval of said Act, were not competent to sign or deliver the notification specified in section seventeen.

SEC. 19. If any teacher retired under the provisions of this Act shall be re-employed in the public schools of this state, such teachers' retirement salary shall cease; and if any teacher having qualified under section fourteen hereof returns to service in the public schools of the state and thereafter qualifies under section thirteen hereof, there shall be deducted from the retirement salary payable to such teacher under the provisions of section thirteen hereof the amount of retirement salary therefore actually received by such teacher under the provisions of section fourteen hereof, such amount to be deducted in equal quarterly installments until the whole amount so received under said section fourteen shall have been deducted; provided, however, that the amount of such deduction to be made quarterly shall not exceed thirty-five dollars.

SEC. 20. No one shall be permitted to draw from the state, directly or indirectly, more than one retirement salary. Nothing in this Act shall be so construed, however, as to prevent local communities or bodies of teachers from supplementing the retirement salary received from the state.

SEC. 21. Every public school teachers' annuity fund existing in any city, county, or consolidated city and county, established under the aforesaid Act, approved March 26, 1895, shall within six months after this Act goes into effect, be delivered to the state treasurer and by him turned into the public school teachers' permanent fund created by this Act, and shall be added to and become part of the permanent fund provided for in section one of this Act.

SEC. 22. Said Act of the legislature of the State of California approved March 26, 1895, and all Acts amendatory thereof, are hereby repealed.

PETITIONS.

By Mr. Speaker:

OAK PARK, CAL., April 25, 1913.

The Assembly, Sacramento, Cal.:

Representing the California Christian Endeavor Union, I do most earnestly ask that you do not pass Assembly Bill No. 1620. This bill would permit the running of a bar in the Claremont Hotel and I firmly believe this would be a detriment to the town of Berkeley and particularly the University. Trusting your honorable body may see this in the same light as the thousands of Christian Endeavorers of this State do, I remain, as ever,

Yours for temperance and sobriety,

EDGAR H. RIVETT,

State and County Citizenship and Temp. Supt.

Also:

RICHMOND, CAL., April 25, 1913.

The Assembly, Sacramento, Cal.:

Please knock that Ferguson bill in the head for the sake of our boys and girls.

REV. GUY A. WHITE.

By Mr. Wall:

STOCKTON, CAL., April 24, 1913.

The Honorable Assembly of the State of California (care W. C. Wall), Sacramento:

The Stockton Chamber of Commerce, in regular session this day and having under consideration Assembly Bill No. 2083, introduced by Hon. W. C. Wall, a representative of this city in the State Legislature, designed to effect a removal of the Stockton State Hospital from the corporate limits of Stockton to a more suitable location, unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, Our attention having been called to Assembly Bill No. 2083, proposed by Assemblyman W. C. Wall, and the Stockton Chamber of Commerce having been convinced that the crowded nature of the city where the institution named in said bill is located renders it unfit to house and care for so many patients; and

WHEREAS, The evidence of eminent alienists has contributed largely to the conclusion that the surroundings and chief building are not fit to properly care for so many patients afflicted with mental and nervous diseases; and

WHEREAS, The enhanced value of the land where the hospital is situated adapts it for the useful purposes of a rapidly growing commercial, manufacturing and residence city, and the sale of such site, as proposed by the bill, will enable the State to transfer the institution without additional cost; and

WHEREAS, Said transfer will provide the State with suitable modern buildings of a type especially designed for the treatment of the patients, without exposing them to contact or interference on the part of the general public; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Stockton Chamber of Commerce urges the Senate and Assembly and the Governor of the State of California to enact legislation designed to economically carry out the wishes of our people to remove the Stockton State Hospital outside the city limits of Stockton.

Adopted April 24, 1913.

J. M. EDDY, Secretary.

LOUIS S. WETMORE, President.

Also, the following petition, addressed to the Chief Clerk, was filed and ordered printed in the Journal:

STOCKTON, CAL., April 25, 1913.

We earnestly request the defeat of the Ferguson bill (A. B. 1620), the booze peril of our State University.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA.

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I return to you herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 1268.

My objections to this bill are, that its disadvantages in the way of possibility of injustice outweigh the advantages that might accrue from making the acts therein described a new criminal offense. The bill makes punishable either as a felony or as a misdemeanor, the sending or delivery, to any person, of any letter or other writing whether subscribed or not, expressing or implying or adapted to imply any threat to kill or to do great bodily injury to the person threatened, or to any relative of his or any member of his family. I take it this means that sending such a communication may be a felony or a misdemeanor, or the delivery of such a message may be a felony or misdemeanor. Beyond this, a threat to do great bodily injury to somebody's relative, or the sending or delivery of a letter threatening to do somebody's relative great bodily injury ought not, in my opinion, by law, be made possibly a felony. Cases may readily be conceived where in the heat of passion or even of just provocation one might write to another that he expected at some future occasion to do bodily harm to some particular relative of the latter. I presume such occasions may have arisen in the lives of many legislators. Assuredly, we would not wish that such a statement, even though sent in a letter, should consign the sender to state prison.

You will observe, too, that the particular act makes punishable by imprisonment in state prison, or in the county jail, the deliverer of the threatening letter or writing therein described. The use of the word "deliver" undoubtedly erroneously crept into the language of the bill, because of its use in another section of the code, wherein it is aptly applied. Of course the mere delivery of a threatening letter we would not wish to make a criminal offense.

For the reasons given, I have vetoed the bill.

Respectfully,

HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Governor.

Dated April 25, 1913.

The question being put: "Shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the veto of the Governor?"

The roll was called, and the veto of the Governor sustained by the following vote:

AYES—None.

NOES—Messrs. Alexander, Ambrose, Bagby, Bloodgood, Bowman, Bradford, Brown, Bush, Byrnes, Cary, Chandler, Clark, Wm. C., Collins, Ellis, Emmons, Ferguson, Finnegan, Gabbert, Gates, Gelder, Green, Guill, Hayes, Hinkle, Johnson, Geo. H., Johnston, T. D., Johnstone, W. A., Judson, Kingsley, Kuck, McCarthy, McDonald, Morgenstern, Mouser, Murray, Palmer, Polsley, Roberts, Schmitt, Shannon, Shartel, Shearer, Slater, Strine, Tulloch, Wall, Weisel, Weldon, Woodley, Wyllie, and Mr. Speaker—51.

Said drainage district is hereby declared to be a body corporate and politic and shall have power to sue and to be sued; to acquire, own, hold, use and enjoy for the purposes mentioned in this Act, any and all properties herein mentioned, or necessary for the purposes of said district.

Sec. 4. Sixteen new sections are hereby added to said Act, to be known as sections five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, sixteen and one half, seventeen, eighteen and nineteen, and to read as follows:

Sec. 5. The management and control of said drainage district shall be vested in the reclamation board, which shall hereafter consist of seven members, at least three of whom shall be residents or land owners of that portion of the San Joaquin valley included within said district. The members of the present reclamation board shall be members of the board as hereby enlarged. The remaining members shall be appointed by the governor of the state within thirty days after this Act shall take effect. All the members, whether herein named or appointed by the governor, shall hold office at the pleasure of the governor. In case of a vacancy, the same shall be filled by the governor of the state.

Sec. 6. The reclamation board may employ a secretary, who may be a member of said board, and such other assistants, employees and advisors as may appear necessary and shall fix their compensation.

Sec. 7. The State of California and the people thereof are hereby declared to have a primary and supreme interest in having erected, maintained and protected on the banks of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and their tributaries and the by-passes and overflow channels mentioned herein, good and sufficient levees and embankments or other works of reclamation, adequately protecting the lands overflowed by said streams, and confining the waters of said rivers, tributaries, by-passes and overflow channels within their respective channels, and it shall be the duty of the reclamation board at all times to enforce on behalf of the State of California and the people thereof the erection, maintenance and protection of such levees, embankments and channel rectification as will, in their judgment, best serve the interests of the State of California. The purposes and objects of this Act are to carry into effect the plans of the California debris commission for the control of the flood waters of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and their tributaries, and to vest in said reclamation board control and jurisdiction over said plans and such other plans as may be adopted by said board, excepting such portion of said plans as relate to channel excavation, enlargement, rectification and control in the Sacramento river and the construction of weirs; it being the intent of this Act that all work and control in the said stream and the construction of weirs shall remain with the United States and the State of California, concurrently, but this exception does not apply to the San Joaquin river and its tributaries. This Act and every part thereof shall be liberally construed to promote its objects and to carry out its intents and purposes.

SEC. 8. It shall be unlawful for a member of the board to vote upon any contract or other matter in which he may have an interest or share, or for any employee of said board to receive directly or indirectly for his own use or benefit any portion or share of the money or other thing paid under any contract; but having an interest in lands within said drainage district shall not disqualify a member for voting to execute any part of said plans of flood control, or carrying out the objects of this Act.

SEC. 9. The reclamation board shall have its office at the city of Sacramento, and shall elect one of its number as president. The regular meetings of said board shall be held on such dates as shall be fixed by the board, and a majority of the board shall constitute a quorum, but no action of said board shall be effective unless the same shall be concurred in by a majority of the members thereof. Special meetings may be called at any time by the president or by a majority of the members after twelve hours' notice by mail to the members. It shall be the duty of the reclamation board to keep full and correct minutes of all proceedings and transactions of all meetings of the board, which minutes shall be open for public inspection during office hours. Any other meeting of the board, at its office, when all of the members are present, shall be considered a legal meeting at which any business may be transacted. Each member of the board shall receive the necessary expenses incurred by him in the performance of his duties, and twenty dollars for each day attending the meetings of the board, but such per diem shall not exceed one thousand dollars in any one year.

SEC. 10. The reclamation board shall require the owners of any railroad, electric railroad, wire line, wagon road or other structure crossing any of the by-passes or overflow channels herein provided for, to provide and maintain one or more suitable draws or other appliances within any such by-passes or overflow channels to permit the passage of water craft, dredgers or other machines used in the construction of reclamation works and to open said draws or appliances upon reasonable notice given by any person desiring to pass the same. Said draws or appliances shall be located at such points as shall be designated by said board. A failure of the owner of any of said structures to comply with this section shall render such owner liable to any person for the damages caused to such person by such failure.

SEC. 11. Any plan of reclamation, drainage or other improvement that includes or contemplates the construction of any new levee, embankment, canal or other excavation along or near the banks of the said rivers or their tributaries or connected therewith, or upon any lands adjacent thereto or within any of the overflow basins thereof, or upon lands subject to overflow therefrom, must, unless approved by said board prior to the taking effect of this Act, be approved by the reclamation board before such plan shall have been adopted by the trustees of any reclamation, levee, protection or drainage district or by any person, corporation or association. Any such plan shall be void unless first approved by said board, and the construction of any levee, embankment, canal or other works of reclamation at any of the places hereinbefore mentioned, without such approval, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and the reclamation board is hereby empowered to prosecute any suit or suits in the name of the people of the State of California for the prevention or abatement of such nuisance. This provision shall not apply to the enlargement of existing levees. No levee, embankment or other structure within any by-pass or overflow channel adopted by said board shall be raised or altered without the permission of the reclamation board, and any person who shall raise or alter any such levee, embankment or other structure without such permission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 12. The reclamation board shall have power to acquire either within or without the boundaries of the district by purchase, condemnation or by other lawful means in the name of the district, from private persons, corporations, reclamation, swamp land, levee, protection or drainage districts, or other organizations or associations, all lands, rights of way, easements, property or material necessary or requisite for the purpose of by-passes, weirs, cuts, canals, levees, overflow channels and other necessary purposes; to construct, clear and maintain by-passes, levees, canals and overflow channels; to make contracts to indemnify or compensate any owner of land or other property for any injury or damage necessarily caused by the exercise of the powers by this Act conferred, or arising out of the use, taking or damage of any property for any of such purposes; to maintain actions to restrain the doing of any act or thing that may be injurious to any of the works necessary to said plan of flood control or that may interfere with the successful execution of said plan or for damages for injury thereto; to establish a standard of levee construction; to do any and all things necessary or incident to the powers hereby granted or to carry out the objects specified herein; to compel by injunction, the owner or owners of any bridge, trestle, wire line, viaduct, or embankment or other structure which shall be intersected, traversed or crossed by any by-pass, drainage canal, or overflow channel, so to construct or alter the same as to offer a minimum of obstruction to the free flow of water through any such by-pass, drainage canal, or overflow channel, and wherever necessary in the case of existing works, to compel the removal or alteration of any such embankment or other structure; to maintain actions to restrain the diversion of the waters of any stream that will increase the flow of water in said Sacramento or San Joaquin rivers or their tributaries, and such diversion of the waters of any stream into said rivers or any of their tributaries is hereby declared to be a public nuisance which may be prevented or abated by the reclamation board. Upon application by any reclamation or drainage district or any owner of swamp land that has issued or that proposes to issue bonds of such district or upon such lands, the reclamation board shall examine said district or such lands and shall certify the facts relative to the value of such lands and the sufficiency of the security afforded for such bonds. No liability shall attach to the State of California by reason of such certificate.

SEC. 13. Whenever, in the opinion of said board it shall be necessary to levy an assessment upon any lands within said drainage district for any of the purposes herein specified, said board shall cause an assessment to be levied upon the lands within said drainage district for such purposes. The plans to be carried out shall be divided by said board into separate portions or projects in such manner as will in its judgment best facilitate the levying of assessments for each particular portion or project in a just and equitable manner according to benefits upon the lands in said district. Said board shall enter in the minutes of the board, a resolution to the effect that the execution of each such separate portion or project which they may determine upon is a public necessity. Each such particular portion or project shall be designated by the board in such resolution by name and number. All assessments, plans and funds intended for or connected with the execution of each particular portion or project shall be designated by such name and number and shall be kept separate and shall be used only for the purpose of carrying out such particular portion or project. For the purpose of making any such assessment the board shall appoint three assessors who shall be disinterested persons, and shall have no interest in any real estate within said drainage district, and each of whom, before entering upon his duties, shall make and subscribe an oath that he is not in any manner interested in any real estate within said district, directly or indirectly, and that he will perform the duties of an assessor to the best of his ability. Said assessors must assess upon the lands within said drainage district the said sums so estimated by the board, and shall apportion the same according to the benefits that will accrue to each tract of land in said district, respectively, by reason of the expenditure of said sums of money. After said assessors have examined the plan or plans of the works contemplated and the said estimates of the cost, they shall make a preliminary report to the reclamation board indicating the exterior boundaries of the lands that in their opinion will be benefited by the expenditures. The assessors shall then appoint a time and place in each county in which any of said lands are situated, when and where they will hear objections to the said report and also evidence concerning the manner in which said assessment should be apportioned. They shall give twenty days' notice of said hearings by publication in a newspaper published in each county. They shall exclude any land that will not be benefited by the expenditure of said sums and shall assess all lands that will be benefited thereby. Said assessors shall make a separate list of the lands so assessed in each county, which list shall contain a description of the tracts of land assessed, by swamp land surveys, legal subdivisions, or other boundaries or references sufficient to identify the same; the name of the owner, if known, or if unknown, that fact, and the amount of the charge assessed against each tract. No mistake in the name of the owner, or supposed owner, of any real estate shall invalidate the assessment. Said lists when completed shall be filed with the secretary of the board and said secretary shall forward to the county treasurer of each county in which any lands in said district are situated, the assessment list for such county, and the same shall be open for inspection by the public for at least thirty days. The compensation of said assessors shall be fixed and allowed by the board. The reclamation board shall appoint a time and place not less than thirty days after said list has been filed with the said treasurer when and where it will meet in each county for the purpose of hearing objections to said assessments, and notice of such hearing shall be filed with the county treasurer and published for two weeks in some newspaper published in each of said counties. At any time before the date of such hearing any person interested in any real estate upon which any charge has been assessed, may file in the office of the secretary of the board written objections to such assessment, stating the grounds of such objections, which said statement shall be verified by the affidavit of such person or some other person who is familiar with the facts. At such hearing the board shall hear such evidence as may be offered touching the correctness of such assessment or the manner of its apportionment, and may modify or amend the same, and may reapportion all or any part of the entire assessment. If said assessment shall be reapportioned, the board shall give two weeks' notice as before and proceed to hear objections in each county affected, as before, and shall then reconsider said assessment and make an order approving said assessment as finally fixed; and the decision of said board shall be final and thereafter said assessment list shall be conclusive evidence, except in the suit hereinafter provided, that the said assessment has been levied and apportioned according to law. Any person aggrieved by the decision of the board approving said assessment may commence an action against the district in the superior court of the county in which said land or the greater part thereof is situated, to have said assessment modified or annulled. Such action must be commenced within thirty days after the reclamation board has approved such assessment and shall have preference over all civil actions in fixing the time of trial. No objection to said assessment shall be considered by the court unless such objection shall have been made in writing to the reclamation board as hereinbefore prescribed, and, excepting in the action above mentioned, no action or defense shall ever be maintained attacking the said assessment in any respect.

SEC. 14. After such hearing has been had by the board in any county, said assessment list shall be certified by the secretary of the board to be correct, and said list shall be deposited in the office of the county treasurer of said county, and such assessment shall thereafter constitute a lien upon the lands so assessed and shall impart notice to all subsequent purchasers or incumbrancers or other person acquiring any interest in or lien upon said land, and all unpaid assessments shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and shall be paid to the county treasurer in separate installments of such amounts, and at such times, respectively, as the board, from time to time, in its discretion, may, by order entered in its minutes, direct; if any such installment shall remain unpaid at the expiration of thirty days from the date of the order, then said installment shall become delinquent, together with the accrued interest thereon, and ten per cent of the amount of said installment and interest shall be added thereto, and collected for the use of the district; provided, that if an action is pending in any court to have the assessment on any tract of land reviewed, modified or annulled, as provided herein, such assessment, if not annulled in said action, shall become delinquent thirty days after any judgment rendered therein shall become final. Immediately after the said installment has become delinquent, the board must publish a notice at least once a week for three weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the land is situated, which notice shall contain a description of the property assessed, the name of the person to whom it is assessed or a statement that it is assessed to unknown owners, if such is the fact, the amount of the delinquent installment, the amount of the interest at the date of delinquency, the amount of the penalty that has been added as above provided, and notice that the property assessed will be sold on a date therein stated, in front of the court house of said county, to pay said installment with accrued interest and the penalty hereinbefore specified. At the time stated in said notice or such other time to which said sale may have been postponed, the board must cause said property to be sold to the highest bidder for gold coin of the United States. Out of the proceeds of said sale the board must pay the amount of said installment with accrued interest thereon and the penalty herein provided for to the county treasurer of such county, and the board must pay to the owner of said property any surplus remaining after such payment to the county treasurer. The board may postpone said sale from time to time by a written notice posted at the place of sale. If no bid is made for said property equal to the amount of said installment, accrued interest and penalty, the district shall become the purchaser, and the said property must be struck off to the district for the amount of said installment, accrued interest and penalty. A certificate of such sale shall be executed by the president of the board to the purchaser, or to the district, if the property shall have been struck off to the district, and said certificate of sale shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the land is situated. Any person interested in said property may redeem the same at any time within one year after the date of said sale, by paying to the county treasurer the amount for which said property was sold, and interest on the said sum at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the date of said sale. If no redemption shall be made within said one year, the purchaser, or the district, if said property shall have been sold to the district, shall be entitled to a deed executed by the president of said board, after notice to any incumbrancer of said land whose incumbrance is of record, and the right of such incumbrancer to redeem said land shall continue for a period of thirty days after such notice. The effect of such deed shall be to convey said property free of all liens and incumbrances, excepting state, county and municipal taxes, assessments levied or assessed by statutory authority and the unpaid balance of assessments made by said drainage district, which said balance must be called in and collected in the same manner as other assessments; provided, that where property shall have been deeded to the district and shall not have been sold, the same shall not be offered for sale for subsequent installments of assessments so long as the district shall remain the owner of said property, but the board may sell said property at any time at public auction after notice given for the same period and in the same manner as herein provided for sale for delinquent installments, but not for a sum less than all delinquent unpaid installments with accrued interest and penalties, and the deed executed in pursuance of such sale shall convey said property free of all incumbrances, except state, county and other municipal taxes, assessments, levied or assessed by statutory authority and the unpaid balance of said assessments of said drainage district, which balance must be called in and collected in the same manner as other assessments.

SEC. 15. All money collected upon sales or otherwise shall be paid to the county treasurer of the county in which the land is situated, and said money, together with all other money collected by the treasurer shall be deposited in the state treasury to the credit of said drainage district in a fund which is hereby created and known as the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district fund, specifying the number of the assessment from which such money was derived, and shall be paid out upon warrants of the state controller, and the controller is hereby directed to issue warrants upon said funds whenever drafts of the reclamation board shall be presented to him, and the state treasurer is hereby directed to pay such controller's warrants when there is sufficient money in the funds of said drainage district; provided, that all moneys collected from assessments, shall be paid out only on warrants issued for works or other expenses covered by the assessment from which such money was derived, which assessments must be numbered consecutively, to the end that all moneys raised by assessment upon any of the lands embraced in said drainage district, shall be expended only for works of reclamation or other expenses beneficial to the lands so assessed, and for the payment of warrants issued for the construction of the works and other expenses for which such assessment was levied and each warrant must designate the number of the assessment from which it is to be paid. In case there are not sufficient funds for such purpose, the state treasurer shall endorse on such warrants the date of presentation and register the same, and thereafter such warrants shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and must be paid in the order of their registration. Such warrants shall be considered as contracts in writing for the payment of money by said district, and the period prescribed for the commencement of an action upon said warrants is four years from the date thereof. Said warrants shall be received in payment of any assessment for work or expenses for which such warrants were issued. The reclamation board may extend the period for payment of any warrant for an additional period of four years upon application of the owner of such warrant. Whenever there is sufficient money in the treasury applicable to the payment of any outstanding warrants of the district, the state treasurer shall give notice that there is money in the treasury to pay certain warrants, giving their numbers in the order of their registration; said notice shall be published for ten days in one newspaper published in the city of Stockton and one published in the city of Sacramento. After the last publication of said notice the warrants therein mentioned shall cease to bear interest. The board shall designate a paper in each of said cities which shall be the official papers of said district for the purpose of such publication.

SEC. 16. In all cases in which an assessment shall be levied upon the lands embraced within said district, and if the assessment upon any tract or tracts of land shall have thereafter been adjudged invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction, or, if for any reason, such tract or tracts of land shall not have been legally charged with said assessment, then such tract or tracts of land shall be charged in any subsequent assessment with such proportion of the former assessment as the benefits derived by said land from the purposes for which said former assessment was levied bears to the whole amount of said former assessment; or a subsequent reassessment of such tract or tracts of land may be made separately for the purpose of charging said land with its proper proportion of the said assessment.

SEC. 16½. One of the first projects to be considered by said board shall be that portion of the plans of the California debris commission relating to the Sacramento river and Cache slough below the junction of Yolo basin by-pass and Cache slough known as the project to enlarge the outlet of the Sacramento river. In the estimate of the sum necessary for the project last named, the board shall also ascertain the amount of any expenditures that have heretofore been made by the State of California, any municipal corporation, reclamation district, and by any owner of lands within said drainage district, or by any of them, for the purpose of purchasing rights of way for the enlargement of the outlet of the Sacramento river and actually applied to said purpose, which said sums so expended shall be legal claims against said district upon execution by the claimant of a quitclaim deed of said rights of way to the district, and shall be paid from the moneys arising from the assessment for the project in this section first above mentioned. The governor is hereby authorized to execute such quitclaim deed on behalf of the State of California.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the reclamation board to promote the construction, completion, maintenance and repair of levees along all streams and by-passes where in the opinion of the board such levees are insufficient or necessary. If the owner or owners of land adjoining any stream or the outer margin of any by-pass, shall fail to construct, repair or maintain suitable levees along such stream or by-pass where such levee is in the opinion of said board necessary, the reclamation board shall notify such owner or owners that such levee is insufficient or necessary; and that unless the construction, repair or completion of such levee shall be commenced within three months and thereafter constructed, repaired or completed with reasonable diligence, the reclamation board will construct, repair or complete such levee, and will cause an assessment to be levied to pay the cost thereof to be assessed upon the lands within said drainage district directly or indirectly benefited by such levee. In said notice the board shall specify the dimensions and method of construction required for such levee. In case the construction, repair or completion of such levee shall not be commenced within three months and thereafter completed with reasonable diligence, the reclamation board is hereby empowered to let a contract or contracts for the construction or repair of said levee or the completion thereof, if construction has been previously commenced and the board shall cause an assessment to be levied to pay the cost of such levee, to be assessed upon the lands within said drainage district and apportioned upon the lands directly and indirectly benefited by such levee according to such benefits; said assessment shall be levied, equalized and collected in the same manner as other assessments are levied, equalized and collected pursuant to the provisions of this Act. If in the opinion of the board a case of emergency exists, requiring immediate action to preserve life or property, the board may cause necessary work to be done immediately without giving the notice herein mentioned, and may cause an assessment to be levied as above prescribed to pay the cost thereof, and to pay for any damage that may have been done by the performance of such work.

SEC. 18. Notwithstanding any provision in this Act, any reclamation district, levee district, drainage district or municipal corporation within the said drainage district, now or hereafter existing shall have the right with the permission of the reclamation board to acquire by grant or eminent domain or otherwise, any right of way or other easement included in the plans of the California debris commission, hereinbefore referred to or any amendment thereto or any modification thereof for controlling the floods of the Sacramento river or included in any plan for the flood water of said river adopted by the board, and required by the plans of any such reclamation, levee or drainage district or municipal corporation for the consummation of its purpose as authorized by law, together with the right to construct such levees as may be required to complete any by-pass, and the title to any such right of way or other easement or levees shall be conveyed to the said drainage district upon compensation being made at the actual reasonable cost thereof.

If any reclamation district, levee district, drainage district, municipal corporation, private corporation, association, or person within said drainage district, with the consent of the reclamation board, has provided or left, or shall hereafter provide or leave, any land for a by-pass or waterway for the purpose of complying with the plans, as set out in the report of the California debris commission, referred to in Section 1 of this Act, any amendment thereto, or any modification thereof, or shall hereafter erect any levee or levees along said by-pass or waterway, the said by-pass and levees shall be considered as a part of the work to be done pursuant to the provisions of this Act and proper compensation shall be made for the right of way or easement through such by-pass and for the actual reasonable cost of construction of said levees. When such compensation shall have been made, such reclamation district, levee district, drainage district, municipal corporation, association, private corporation or person shall convey to the said drainage district a perpetual easement in said by-pass and levees for all purposes necessary to accomplish the objects of said report of California debris commission. In the event that any such reclamation district, levee district, drainage district, municipal corporation, private corporation, association, or person shall, with the consent of the reclamation board expend any sum of money in the acquisition of such right of way or other easement, or in the construction of such levees, and shall convey the same to the district, or in the event that it, he or they has or have allowed, or shall allow, any land to be used for the purpose of a by-pass or waterway to comply with the plans of said California debris commission herein referred to, or shall construct levees along any line of any such by-pass, and shall convey, a perpetual easement therein to said drainage district, he or they shall have a claim against the said drainage district for the reasonable cost of such right of way or other easement or of such levees, and an assessment shall be levied upon the lands in said drainage district benefited thereby so that the same may be paid, or such cost may be included as one of the items in any assessment that may be levied in the said drainage district.

SEC. 19. The sum of one hundred thousand dollars, in addition to the sums heretofore appropriated, is hereby appropriated for the use of the reclamation board, at least twenty thousand dollars of which shall be used by the board to pay the expenses of the state engineer in carrying out the directions of this Act. The controller is hereby directed to draw warrants upon the state treasurer whenever drafts of the reclamation board are presented to him, and the treasurer is hereby directed to pay said controller's warrants. In the first assessment levied in said district the sum of fifty thousand dollars shall be levied, collected and paid to the state treasurer as reimbursement of one half of the above appropriation.
